

Italy Acts as Belligerent in Spanish Strife, League Is Told

Accused of 'Scandalous Violation' of World Principles

'WHITE BOOK' AIRED

Britain Virtually Abandons Plan for Armistice

Geneva.—(U)—The Spanish government today accused Italy of the "most scandalous violation" of international principles since the World War in a "white book" intended to show the fascist state as a "truly belligerent power" in violation of the league covenant.

The "white book," handed to members of the league council by the Spanish government delegation, is not an official league document. It is a Spanish government compilation of documents, one of them purporting to be a "secret" and "most urgent" order from the Italian war office to the corps command of the general staff. The documents allegedly were captured from Italian soldiers fighting on the side of the insurgents in Spain.

The "white book," published today, said Italy was guilty of "the most scandalous violation" perpetrated on the European continent since the World War of the principles which are the basis of any juridically organized international community." It added:

"By behaving in a manner indicated by the documents reproduced in the 'white book,' Italy has helped to prolong the war in Spain; has violated Article 10 of the league covenant and has acted as a truly belligerent power."

(Article 10 of the League of Nations covenant says: "The members of the league undertake to respect and preserve as against external aggression the territorial integrity and existing political independence of all members of the league.")

The alleged "secret" and "most urgent" Italian war office document produced, with a Rome date of Jan. 6, 1937, states its subject is "volunteers for any destination."

The purported order reads:

"In confirmation of telephonic orders, whole of personnel, officers, non-commissioned officers and troops of royal army and of M. V. S. N. (volunteer militia of national security) ready for purposes of O. M. S. (military operations in Spain) should be supplied with badges of ranks and with stars (for royal army) or with lictor's pasties (for the militia)."

These distinguishing marks should also be kept during the period of concentration in port and embarkation; they should not be taken off until troops have embarked for destination indicated."

The document was alleged to have been signed by the executive quartermaster of the general staff.

NO ARMISTICE SEEN

London.—(U)—A British plan for an armistice in Spain was virtually abandoned today.

The disclosure was made along with plans for a simple plea to both sides in the Spanish civil conflict to "humanize the war." This was put in first place on the agenda of the European non-intervention committee.

Previously, a truce to permit the withdrawal of all foreign fighters in Spain had been suggested by the British.

Soviet Russia's members of the committee yesterday blocked immediate dispatch of an appeal to Spain when the non-intervention body attempted to extend the note beyond a mere request to Spaniards to cease the bombing of "open" towns.

$10 Total Doctor Bill For 100-Year-Old Woman

Montfort, Wis.—(U)—Mrs. Katharine Frank celebrated her one hundredth birthday today, and said it had cost her only 10 cents a year to keep well. She says she has not spent more than $10 in doctor bills in her entire life. Mrs. Frank was born in Almersbach, Germany, on May 27, 1837.

ASKS MORE DATA

Representative Marvin Jones (above), chairman of the house agricultural committee, today asked more time definite information on the proposed new agricultural adjustment act, after Secretary Wallace had endorsed the measure.

Farm Bill to Face Delay in Lower House

Committee Head Is Seeking More Definite Information

WALLACE FOR PLAN

Secretary Asks Congress to Pass Bill as Early As Possible

Washington.—(U)—A flat endorsement of the proposed agricultural adjustment act of 1937 by Secretary Wallace today met immediate opposition with a slow down signal from the house agricultural committee.

Wallace asked congress to enact the measure "at the earliest possible date," but Chairman Jones (D-Texas) advised him congress should have more definite information. Jones said he doubted the wisdom of the legislation at this time.

"I am strongly in favor of the principles and purposes of the bill," Wallace said, in testifying before Jones' committee on the measure, advanced last week by the American Farm Bureau Federation and other farm organizations.

"We've got a pretty good program in effect now," said Jones in reply. "Should the new program be tied up by injunction or be held invalid, we would find ourselves without a farm program."

Wallace's Views

Wallace, in his detailed endorsement of the bill, said it had two fundamental purposes:

"Safeguarding of the nation's food supply and protection of the farm income."

Officials of the Farm Bureau Federation have estimated the program would cost between $250,000,000 and $750,000,000 annually. They placed the "average" cost at approximately $500,000,000.

Wallace outlined features of the bill as:

1. To protect consumers against drought disasters such as in the years of 1933 and 1936.

2. To minimize waste fluctuations in the prices of basic farm commodities in the interests of both consumers and producers.

3. To stabilize farm income as far as possible at a "fair" level.

The measure embodies such features as Wallace's "ever-normal" granary, commodity loans, crop insurance, soil conservation and production control.

Senate Favors Fewer Regents

Advances Bill to Reduce U. Of W. Board From 15 To 9 Members

Madison.—(U)—By a vote of 20 to 10 the senate reported itself in favor today of the Reche bill reducing the University of Wisconsin board of regents from 15 to 9 members.

The roll call by which the measure was placed beyond the amendment stage:

For the bill: Democrats—Bohens, Callan, Clancy, Dempsey, Galasinski, Morrissey, Sauld, Schoenacker, Republican—Coakley, Duell, Mack, Morris, Reche, Shearer, Progressive—Busby, Cushman, Ingram, Kresky, Panzer, Paulson—20.

Against the bill: Progressives—Anderson, Engerbreton, Kannenberg, Leverich, McDermid, Risser, Rowlands, Rush, Severson; Democrats—Zimny—10.

The proposed new board, which the governor would be called upon to appoint within 30 days of the effective date of the act, would be appointed by the governor and be confirmed by the senate.

Besides reducing the number of the appointive members, the bill would eliminate the state superintendent and the president of the university from the board, and remove restrictions on classification of appointees. At present, farmer and labor representatives and men from each congressional district make up the board.

There was little debate. The author, Senator E. J. Roelke (R)-Fennimore, said the present board is "entirely too large and unwieldy."

Senator Earl Leverich (P), Sparta, proposed a substitute measure to increase the membership to 16 with addition of another farmer member, but the plan was voted down 20 to 9 despite his plea that "this is a good farmer's bill."

6 Indians are Jailed For Possessing Liquor

Ashland.—(U)—Six Chippewa Indians were in jail here today awaiting trial in federal court on charges of introducing and having in their possession intoxicating liquor for sale on the Lac du Crotteau Indian reservation in Sawyer county.

The defendants, all of Reserve, Wis., were arraigned here yesterday before United States Court Commissioner Walter S. Cate and bound over for trial. They were committed to the county jail for failure to post $500 individual bonds.

William Scottie and Charles Sharlow pleaded guilty to the charges, while Peter Quagon, Mitchell Quagon, Henry Benton and James Hart, Jr., pleaded innocent and waived examination.

Kannenberg Tries In Vain to Have Measure Returned

Madison.—(U)—Senator Roland E. Kannenberg (P), Wausau, author of one of the twin Wisconsin development authority measures now before the legislature, sought unsuccessfully today to withdraw his bill.

The senate rejected, 22 to 6, his motion to have the bill returned to him.

Referring to a story in the Capital Times, Madison newspaper, which stated that action on the senate WDA bill had been delayed because certain senators would not vote for a bill bearing his name, Kannenberg said: "A communistic bloc is determined to take control of progressive legislation here. I don't care to be a party to any 'red' legislation."

He told newspaper men later he intended to support "same amendments" to the measure to make it "safer for business."

The WDA bill set up a comprehensive state power program. Opponents of the plan have charged the development authority would branch out from the utility field into other business.

Assembly Votes to Recall Fisheries Bill From Senate

Return for Further Consideration Depends on Upper House

Madison.—(U)—The assembly adopted today a joint resolution to recall from the senate for further consideration the bill it passed yesterday conferring power upon the conservation department to regulate commercial fishing in outlying waters.

Whether it is returned depends upon the action taken by the senate, which must adopt the resolution.

The measure conflicts with another bill, supported by certain commercial fishermen, which was ordered to engrossment simultaneously in the senate yesterday. The latter creates a bureau of fisheries to supervise the outlying waters independent of the conservation department.

Considerable confusion over the assembly bill, involving an error in the official journal of proceedings, resulted in a heated debate among members of the house.

Assemblyman Albert Shimek (D), Algoma, who had voted for its passage, offered the resolution to recall it, asserting he did not understand the full purpose of the measure.

Assemblyman David Sigman (P), Two Rivers, a bitter opponent charged it is "a vicious bill" which subject commercial fishermen entirely to the wishes of the conservation commission and deprive the legislature of its control over outlying waters.

The most vigorous proponent, Assemblyman Frank Graess (R), Sturgeon Bay, replied that conservation department control over inland and that commercial fishermen of Kenosha, Racine, Milwaukee, Port Washington, Sheboygan and Door county favor the assembly proposal. He maintained that if allowed the department to enforce orders and regulations only when the legislature is not in session.

After the error in the journal had been cleared up, it disclosed the measure was passed by the house, 71 to 8.

The vote on recalling the bill from the senate was 50 to 34.

Heavy Rain Damages Streets and Theater

Richland Center.—(U)—A heavy rain tore out flood walls along the creek here last night and overflowed water damaged streets and a theater basement.

Pavement on two streets was damaged and the manager of the Eskin theater estimated between $500 and $1,000 damage was caused by water backing into the theater basement.

Other creeks in the vicinity also were reported at high stage overnight, but were subsiding today.

Senate Test Vote Favors Measure to Extend Moratorium on Foreclosures

Madison.—(U)—The administration's bill to extend the moratorium on real estate foreclosures received approval of the senate in a test vote today, but a motion to reconsider delayed final action until next week.

The senate voted 16 to 13 to place the measure past the amendment stage. There were immediate objections to a final vote. Senator Frank Panzer (P), Oakfield, moved reconsideration and had the motion placed on next Wednesday's calendar.

The bill recreates the moratorium act to provide for compulsory foreclosure on land contracts made prior to Jan. 1, 1935, and sets up three-man county conciliation boards.

In foreclosure actions in which the redemption periods has not expired, the measure would provide for extension of that period for another year. The new act would expire Jan. 1, 1938.

Judge Rules Sit-Downers Act Illegally

'Can't Throttle Constitutional Rights Even to Gain Worthy End'

GROUP QUILTS PLANT

Leaves Before Being Served With Order to Yield Possession

Milwaukee.—(U)—Circuit Judge Charles L. Aarons declared the sit-down strike unconstitutional yesterday.

His ruling, which set a precedent in Wisconsin, was delivered in a suit brought by Wrigley's restaurant asking an injunction to end a sit-down strike called May 17 by the United Catering Workers, a committee for Industrial Organization affiliate.

The sit-downers, 108 of them, evacuated the restaurant peacefully when informed of the decision—before they were formally served with the order requiring them "forthwith to surrender possession."

Judge Aarons called upon the state labor board to conduct an election among employees to determine whether they should be represented by the C. I. O. union or the rival A. F. of L. Cooks and Waiters Alliance which also claims a majority.

Must Act Within Law

"The theory of the legality of the sit-down," he ruled, "plainly departs from the principles of our constitution which seeks to substitute physical power for the remedies afforded by law. One may not throttle constitutional rights even to gain a worthy end, nor by way of retaliation for the violation of one's rights by others. He who deems himself wronged must, under our constitution, seek his remedy under the law."

Calling his decision a "comparatively new viewpoint" in response to the "temper of the times," Judge Aarons declared "to hold lawful such measures as the sit-down... would mean the destruction of constitutional government and the end of democracy."

Testimony during the trial revealed Wrigley's restaurant had granted recognition to the A. F. of L. union of April 23. Later the C. I. O. turned to page 2 col. 2

Former Educator Held On Charge of Assault

Greenfield, Mass.—(U)—White-haired Thomas E. Elder, one-time dean of Mount Hermon School for Boys, pleaded innocent today in district court to assault with intent to commit murder and being armed with a dangerous weapon and was held in $10,000 for hearing June 3.

The veteran educator was charged with threatening F. Allan Norton, former cashier at Mount Hermon, Tuesday night as Norton stepped from his garage.

Elder appeared calm as he took a chair in the prisoner's cage. He had spent the night in the Greenfield police station lockup.

Mount Hermon school at Northfield, Mass., to which the two men formerly were attached, was the scene three years ago of the unsolved slaying of its 36-year-old headmaster, Dr. Elliott Spencer. He was killed almost instantly by a shotgun blast fired through his study window.

Parkers Appeal Form $22,000 Income Levies

Milwaukee.—(U)—Charles P. Smith, a member of the federal board of tax appeals, heard an appeal here late yesterday by George S. Parker, chairman of the board of the Parker Pen company, Janesville, Wis., and his wife from federal income taxes involving approximately $22,000.

The government contends Parker should have paid an additional tax of $8,728 in 1929 and that his wife should have paid an additional tax of $1,827. Preferred stock in the company, cashed in by the Parkers in 1929, was involved.

The Parkers claim they were over-assessed by $12,727 on their 1929 income taxes and that the additional assessment was not justified.

Anti-Strike Move Assailed in House Debate on Relief

Proposed Amendment Shouted Down but Results in Criticism

Washington.—(U)—A storm of controversy broke on the house floor today over an attempt to write into the $1,500,000,000 relief bill an amendment denying relief workers the right to strike.

Although the proposal, by Representative Fuller (D-Ark.) was shouted down, it precipitated a flood of criticism.

"This is the most ridiculous thing I ever heard of," declared Representative Maverick (D-Texas). "What are we? Are we the house of lords back in 1518? Why, we must be crazy even to listen to things like that."

The stocky Texan vehemently denounced previous amendments earmarking the bill for flood control, public works and other specific projects.

"We've earmarked and earmarked," he shouted, "until the bill hasn't got any cars left. We've earmarked until it's no longer a relief bill."

"It's a pork-barrel bill and a disgrace to congress and the Democratic party if we pass it," Fuller had proposed an amendment which would have made it eligible for relief any person who went on strike or incited or encouraged strikes.

"I know this is a very strong—almost radical—amendment," he said, "but there's nothing un-American about it. Why should anyone on charity, accepting a dole, have the right to openly and above board denounce the congress and the relief program because we are not paying him enough wages?"

Representative Boulware (P-Wis.) joined Maverick in attacking the Fuller amendment as "a vicious proposal."

"Events have shown," he declared, "that the only effective way to make a protest and get it heard is to strike."

Representative Fob (R-N.Y.) precipitated a debate on assistance by offering an amendment that would require relief administrators to give work-relief jobs to American citizens. The amendment was ruled out of order, however, on the ground it was not offered to the proper section of the bill.

The bill swept past the first attempt to amend it.

A proposal by Representative Rich (R-Pa.) to set up an advisory board of five senators and five representatives to cooperate with the president in determining how the money should be spent was ruled out of order.

After the Rich amendment was thrust aside, the house defeated another by Representative Colmer (D-Miss.) that would have made "actual need" the primary requisite for a place on work-relief rolls.

Challenge Loans To Public Plants

Utilities Ask Supreme Court to Rule on Constitutionality

Washington.—(U)—Utility interests asked the supreme court today to rule on the constitutionality of federal grants and loans for construction of publicly-owned power plants.

The question is one of several which President Roosevelt cited as undecided in explaining why he still wanted congress to enact his judiciary reorganization bill.

Government counsel were expected to file a brief opposing the utility's request late this afternoon or early tomorrow. They had urged their reply in the hope that the court will make up its mind at the regular conference Saturday and announce its decision on Tuesday—the last day of the term.

Clark Foreman, director of the PWA power division, said a denial of the request would in effect nullify injunctions against 40 municipal power projects for which more than $30,000,000 has been allotted.

The issue reached the highest court on appeal from the refusal of the United States Court of Appeals here to enjoin PWA from financing public plants in Alabama and Iowa.

The Alabama Power Co. and the Iowa City Light and Power Co. contended that creation of PWA represented unconstitutional delegation of power to the executive.

That the contested grants were not justified by the general welfare clause, and that states rights were violated.

Legislature Gets Opposition From Farmers on Bills

Oppose Licensing of Dairy Farms and Reducing Tax on Oleomargarine

(Post-Crescent Madison Bureau)

Madison—More than 400 Seymour dairy farmers, members of the Seymour local of the Progressive Farmers of Wisconsin, oppose bills now before the legislature which would establish a quality dairy program through the licensing of dairy farms, the examination of assessors in all taxation districts, and a reduction of the sales tax on oleomargarine, the legislature has been informed.

Officers of the Seymour organization made known their stand in a petition introduced in the state senate by Senator Mike Mack of Shiocton. The officers, including Alfred Mueller, president, Fred Melchert, vice president, Francis J. Foley, secretary, Nick Watry, treasurer, and Mike Nieuhaus, director all of Seymour, asked Senator Mack to use his influence to defeat the bills because they "are harmful to our interests as farmers and tax payers."

The quality milk standardization program, proposed in a bill introduced at the request of the department of agriculture and markets, includes provisions for the assessment of each dairy farmer $1 and each dairy plant $10 to $500 for the support of a dairy inspection system.

A drastic reduction in the sales tax on oleomargarine has been proposed by Assemblyman Robert T. Cohen of Milwaukee and was universally opposed at a recent public hearing.

The third bill opposed by the Seymour farmers would make compulsory the examination of assessors in all taxation districts in Wisconsin outside Milwaukee county.

Chicago Editor Kiwanis Speaker

Discusses Major Problems Confronting American People

Chilton — Tuesday evening was ladies' night at the regular meeting of the Chilton Kiwanis, wives of members being guests. The speaker of the evening was Captain N. Dancy of Chicago, editor of "The Citizen," the official organ of the Americanization League. He took for his theme "How the American People Face Their Social, Political and Economic Problems." Beginning with the period immediately following the Civil war, the American nation as a whole grew more and more to be a materialistic people. They became absorbed in the bigness of their nation and its apparently inexhaustible resources.

"As a nation we built the largest railroads, the highest business buildings, the biggest corporations, and we boasted of having, if not the richest men, the greatest fortune builders in all ages of history," the speaker said. "We became money-minded people. This attitude influenced our whole scheme of government, national, state and city, producing graft and dishonesty, especially in our largest cities. Political graft in national, state and city government is now costing this country $3,000,000,000 annually," he maintained. Politicians are in the saddle, and they seem to be able to keep the minds of the people in non-essentials.

There are 202 religious denominations in the United States, but most, if not all denominations are far too much influenced by materialism. Captain Dancy said. The American people are blinded by political partisanship and are taught by politicians to detour facts but not to face them. More than anything else the American people need to learn what the fundamentals of their national welfare demand, and knowing these basic principles, face facts instead of side-stepping them. Miss Elsie Steffes, who has taught at Booth school during the last year, closed her school for the year Friday, and on Saturday entertained the pupils and their parents at a picnic. Miss Steffes has been re-engaged for the coming year.

Sit-Down Strike Held Violation Of Constitution

I. O. organized among the employees and both unions claimed majorities. Began May 7

The C. I. O. catering workers called the strike May 7, demanding recognition as the sole bargaining agency. John B. Henriksen, president of the restaurant, declared in his complaint Wrigley's would bargain collectively with representatives of its employees but did not know with whom to negotiate.

Counsel for the strikers indicated they hesitated to evacuate prior to the decision because of A. F. of L. threats to move in or to picket if a contract were signed with the C. I. O.

Judge Aarons compared the sit-down strike to taking possession in other forms. "If one could take possession of a building and be immune, if the other party had done something unlawful, then one could also take possession of the cash drawer, the goods and merchandise and claim a right to hold it until the other party performed his duty," he said. "It is the duty of a court of equity having jurisdiction to act, according to the recognized and established principles of law and in accordance with the constitution," he ruled, "to do otherwise would be to make treasured and sacred human rights hostages in the hands of those who seek to obtain by force what they can properly seek only by the remedies of the law."

LABOR BOARD'S STAND
Madison—(P)—"Get them to make an honest effort to settle their differences" is the motto and formula of the new Wisconsin labor relations board, which settled 10 strikes in the first 10 days of its existence.

Although the state labor act provides for formal hearings and investigations, the board so far has held no public hearings and ordered only two elections to determine bargaining representatives. In almost every case, Dr. E. E. Witte, University of Wisconsin professor and members of the board, said today, differences have been settled as soon as employer and worker representatives were brought together.

Discussing an hypothetical case, Witte said, the union asks for the moon and the employer refuses to yield an inch. When both sides make an honest effort to come to an agreement, it doesn't take long to reach a settlement. Both employers and workers are turning to the board for help in threatened strikes, Witte disclosed, and walkouts in a number of cases have been averted through conference.

A. F. L. Opposition To Wage-Hour Bill Considered Likely

Green Expects Executive Council to Announce Its Position

Cincinnati—(P)—American Federation of Labor opposition to the administration's wage and hour bill appeared likely today in the light of sentiment expressed privately by federation chiefs.

William Green, A. F. of L. president, expects the federation's executive council to declare its stand on the measure before the end of its current meeting.

Hotel lobby talk plainly indicated most of the council members felt men's wages should be fixed by collective bargaining rather than by federal law. A rigid minimum, they said, would tend to peg wages and would make every effort to raise pay double hard.

Sentiment on the hours and child labor provisions was divided. Some of the more conservative leaders oppose federal regulation of hours, even though the federation is on record for the Black-Connery 30-hour week bill. Green, among others, expressed doubt as to the wisdom of a child labor bill, saying that its enactment might hurt the chances of the child labor amendment.

Press Campaign
Meantime, the council pushed forward with its campaign against John L. Lewis' rebel Committee for Industrial Organization on many fronts. Traditional A. F. of L. craft lines were forgotten for the time being in the battle's heat.

Arthur Wharton, president of the Machinists' union and ordinarily a staunch defender of organization by craft, announced he would issue an industrial union charter to the Chevrolet truck body workers in Indianapolis.

This move signaled the start of a new A. F. of L. invasion of the automobile industry. Whether this campaign would be left to Wharton was not made clear.

The council prepared to follow suspension of 10 of the original C. I. O. unions with similar discipline against other unions. Steve Nance's Georgia Federation of Labor, the Aluminum Workers of New Kensington, Pa., and the Philadelphia Battery Workers were summoned to answer "insurrection" charges.

Catlin Bill Is Sent to Senate

New Legislation Authorizes Publication of Annual Financial Report

(Post-Crescent Madison Bureau)
Madison—After three months of delay, the assembly Wednesday passed without debate and sent to the senate a bill by Assemblyman Mark Catlin, Jr., (R), Appleton, which will require the governor to publish within 60 days of the end of each fiscal year a condensed and popular account of the condition of the state's finances.

Amended with Catlin's consent, the bill will require Governor La Follette at the end of this fiscal year to prepare a statement showing the resources and obligations of each fund in the state treasury and an operating statement showing the estimated and actual revenues and the appropriations, expenditures and balances for each fund during the year compared with the condition of those funds during the preceding year. The report would be published in pamphlet form so as to be available to the public and would also be published in the official state paper.

Present statutes, according to Catlin, direct the director of the budget to prepare a financial statement each year for the use of the governor. His bill, the Appleton assemblyman said, will require the governor to have this statement published. Although the state financial reports are now published in the "blue book," Catlin said, this publication is issued biennially and too late to be of any practical value to the public.

Follow Proper Method In Displaying U. S. Flag

Proper display of the American flag on Memorial day is urged on every home, public institution, business and industry by military, naval and veteran organizations.

When flown at half-staff or half-mast, as on Memorial day, it should first be raised to the top of the staff and then lowered to the middle position. On this day it should remain at half-mast only until noon and then hoisted to the top to remain until sunset.

Some of the more common methods of displaying the flag are:

When shown with another flag
Against a wall from crossed staffs the flag of the United States should be on the right—the flag's own right—an its staff should be in front of the staff of the other flag.

Group Display
When a number of flags are grouped and displayed from staffs with the flag of the United States the latter should be in the center or highest point of the group.

When carried in a procession with another flag or flags
The flag of the United States should be either on the marching right, that is, the flag's own right, or when there is a line of other flags the flag of the United States may be in front of the center of that line.

When displayed over the middle of the street
The flag should be suspended vertically with the union to the north in an east and west street, or to the east in a north and south street.

When flags of two or more nations are displayed
They should be flown from separate staffs of the same height and the flags should be approximately of equal size. International usage forbids the display of the flag of one nation above that of another.

Not a Cover
When used on a speaker's platform, the flag, if displayed flat, should be above and behind the speaker. If flown from a staff it should be in a position of honor at the speaker's right. The flag should never be used to cover the speaker's desk, or drape the front of the platform.

When displayed in a manner other than being flown from a staff it should be displayed flat, whether inside or out. When displayed either horizontally or vertically against a wall the union should be uppermost and to the flag's own right, that is, to the observer's left. If in a window it should be displayed the same way, that is, with the union or blue field to the left of the observer in the street. When festoons, rosettes or drapings are required, bunting of blue, white and red should be used, but never the flag.

When used in connection with the unveiling of a statue or monument the flag should form a distinctive feature during the ceremony but the flag itself should never be used as a covering for the statue.

Rules in Churches
When the flag is displayed in the body of a church it should be from a staff placed in position of honor at the congregation's right as they face the clergyman. The service flag, the State flag or other flag should be at the left of the congregation. If in the chancel or on the platform, the flag will be placed on the clergyman's right as he faces the congregation and other flags on the left.

The flag should not be raised before sunrise and should be lowered at sunset, if possible. It should be hoisted briskly and lowered slowly and ceremoniously.

Recover Body of U. W. Instructor

Coroner Orders Post Mortem but Thinks Death Was Accidental

Madison—(P)—The body of Asa Clark, 40, graduate instructor in French at the University of Wisconsin, was recovered from Lake Mendota late yesterday, two weeks after he disappeared from his cottage on the lake shore.

Clark's body, clad in swimming trunks, was sighted about 4 p. m. by Jack Neider, 15, the youth summoned his brother, William, 20, Bartel Sanna, 19, and Cyril Bohne, Shorewood Hills fire chief, who brought the body to shore.

Following identification by university faculty members Coroner Edward Fischer removed the body to a funeral home. The coroner ordered a post mortem, although he said Clark apparently drowned when seized with cramps while swimming.

The American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars planned to hold funeral services tomorrow. Clark served with the marine corps in the World war.

Clark's widow, Mrs. Margaret Cochrane Clark, started back to Auburn, Ala., Tuesday after assisting for more than a week in a search for her husband.

Clark formerly taught at Alabama Polytechnic Institute in Auburn, the University of Illinois and Kentucky and De Pauw university. He received his bachelor's degree here in 1924 and would have taken his doctor's degree in June.

His mother, Mrs. Mary E. Clark, lives in Star City, W. Va. Besides his widow and mother, Clark was survived by four brothers and four sisters.

Lawrence Sees Relief Money as Political Weapon

Battle Against "Discretionary" Spending Is on In Congress

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Washington—The battle against "discretionary" spending is on. Congress well aware now that the power of the executive to control elections is at stake, is beginning to wonder whether the death sentence to the individual independence of a member of congress isn't contained in appropriations granting the president $1,500,000,000 for "relief."

When Senator Harry Byrd of Virginia was told by Secretary Wallace the other day that it would be a "miracle" if a senator refused an appropriation to be spent in his state and when Mr. Byrd performed the "miracle" by asking the department of agriculture to withhold $1,500,000 of proposed spending in Virginia, it wasn't really a miracle happening at all. Senator Byrd, of course, deserves credit for courage in rising misunderstanding by his constituents, but the issue was a simple one. The question really presented was: shall the senator from Virginia stand by and allow $1,500,000 more to be spent in his state for the purpose of building up a political machine to defeat him for re-election in the Democratic primaries?

As a measure of self-protection, the Virginia senator called attention to the waste involved, as he saw it, in the proposed expenditure, and while the episode is very unusual and only a man of Harry Byrd's courage and statesmanship would bring it about, nevertheless the political side of the controversy is not to be overlooked. Many members of congress are in the same fix. If they play ball with the administration, they can get administration support for re-election, but they must acquiesce in a policy of wasteful spending. If they oppose the administration, they must be prepared for the backfire in their districts and states. Thus, undoubtedly, the refusal by Harry Byrd to countenance a waste of $1,500,000 will be used by administration henchmen who are opposed to Byrd as a means of building up sentiment against him. But the people of Virginia who have supported Senator Glass notwithstanding his outspoken criticism of the administration are of a kind apparently who understand and appreciate also a man of Harry Byrd's capacity and conscientious service. In the other states of the union, incumbent members of congress do not have political organizations with the power that Senator Byrd has had, so they will require considerable more skill in warding off the attacks of administration lieutenants who appear as rivals for the nomination and are promptly buttressed by support from labor organizations and other groups which are the direct beneficiaries of administration favor.

Farley is Bowed
Members of congress have until now failed to realize that the relief expenditures can be used in such a way as to build up political organizations under the direction of Mr. Farley. For, while Harry Hopkins is the relief administrator, the funds are disbursed through a bureaucracy which has been political in its complexion almost from the very beginning. Besides this, the federal office holders are today very active in politics and can be counted upon to fight any candidates inside the democratic party who are not lining up with the administration on public policies. The revolt this week in the house of representatives, where an effort has been made to "ear-mark" appropriations for specific purposes, is a new trend, but it has been developing for some time. If appropriations are earmarked, the discretionary power of the executive is to that extent curtailed. The administration realizes a very important prize is at stake and undoubtedly all the pressure of the president's influence will be brought to bear by his lobby agents on capitol hill, who will be less effective in the senate than in the house.

Will Need Support
Members of the upper house who have stuck out their necks, so to speak, in the fight against the president's supreme court bill may come to realize that the $1,500,000,000 fund, if allowed to be spent in a discretionary manner by the administration, will spell the doom of their careers in public life unless they can get substantial support from Republicans and independent Democrats in sufficient number to overcome the administration groups.

But the first move toward the 1938 election campaign is being taken this week, and it centers in the approval or disapproval of the $1,500,000,000 expenditure for "relief." By attempting to write specific instructions into the appropriation bill, specifying in what districts and for what purposes the money shall be spent, the members of the house prevent last-minute threats and clubs being held over their heads either as a punishment for independence in their voting or as a means of coercing them later on in this session in the session of congress which begins next January. For the $1,500,000,000 must be spread over the country and could be concentrated or withdrawn as the executive pleases.

For the funds now being appropriated this month are for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1937, and the money will be spent through July 30, 1938. Many members of congress are in the same fix. If they play ball with the administration, they can get administration support for re-election, but they must acquiesce in a policy of wasteful spending. If they oppose the administration, they must be prepared for the backfire in their districts and states. Thus, undoubtedly, the refusal by Harry Byrd to countenance a waste of $1,500,000 will be used by administration henchmen who are opposed to Byrd as a means of building up sentiment against him. But the people of Virginia who have supported Senator Glass notwithstanding his outspoken criticism of the administration are of a kind apparently who understand and appreciate also a man of Harry Byrd's capacity and conscientious service. In the other states of the union, incumbent members of congress do not have political organizations with the power that Senator Byrd has had, so they will require considerable more skill in warding off the attacks of administration lieuten-

1, 1938—the very vital time of the primaries before the congressional elections. On whether the administration retains or loses the power of discretionary spending depends the future votes of many members of congress and doubtless their fate too in the primary contests of the spring of 1938, when their respective renominations of the Democratic ticket will be before the voters for decision. The book has been developed for the use of volunteer leaders but is of value to anyone who teaches a boy. It is written in an informal attractive style and deals with all problems concerning boys.

Besides technical information for scout leaders on various phases of scoutcraft and scout leadership, there is a section dealing with the scout program. The psychology of boyhood, community relationships, activity features which include games that can be played in the home or on the playground, camping methods, menu planning and descriptions of hikes are contained in the book.

Trailer Is Not a Menace and Is Not Likely to Become One, This Owner Claims

BY CARL W. MASON

Athens, Ala.—The rising chorus of alarmist writings dealing with the alleged growing dangers of the house trailer movement now spreading over America needs to be offset with a reminder of the familiar truism that nine tenths of our troubles never happen. Magazines and other publications have been lately devoting more and more space to the trailer development and what are termed its problems and its menaces. Even the erudite Literary Digest has printed a couple of stories in recent numbers and has been unable to refrain from quoting the jeremiahs and harping unpleasantly on possible taxes, sanitary regulations, licenses and various other items that tend more and more to rouse the trailerite's ire. Of late the chief emphasis seems to be placed upon the matter of sanitary conditions with the hint that only through health regulations are local authorities empowered to lay any heavy hand on the wheeled nomads.

The United States Conference of Mayors in February drew up a "model" ordinance for the regulation of trailer camps with the idea that it might be adopted by many communities. Most of the draft is unobjectionable. The trouble with this "model," however, as well as much other proposed regulation, is that it is made or suggested by men from large cities who are perhaps best qualified to deal wisely with trailing which is primarily and largely a matter of the open country and the small towns. The trailer congestions will not develop in New York or Chicago but in the Florida and California and Gulf coast and Cape Cod and other New England resort centers of comparatively small sizes.

Preposterous Idea
These effete metropolitan dwellers, always so ready to regulate, have little knowledge or appreciation of the civilization that still thrives in many parts of America and produces a physical manhood and womanhood that might well be the envy of any of the modern Babylons. The idea that it is desirable or possible to apply the large city standards of apartment house and tenement in crowded sections to the free wheeling trailer contingents that flit hither and yon is as preposterous as its inception is unnecessary.

The fact is that the trailer is not now a menace or likely to become such. I have been unable to discover that it has proven to be even a serious problem anywhere.

Experienced authorities and private persons have alertly met the trailer with suitable arrangements for its handling where it has appeared in large numbers. In most parts of the country, far from being a nuisance it is still an object of the liveliest curiosity and interest and citizens are eager to see and inspect it. Nor will a few hundred thousand more of these traveling homes added to the present quarter of a million and more already in use materially alter the situation.

No More Difficult
Disposal of trailer garbage is no more difficult or a "problem" than the handling of similar waste from a house, cottage or camp cabin. Trailers cannot carry elaborate sanitary apparatus or bathing equipment of notable bulk. Camps are provided with both toilets and baths and travelers largely use these so there is no necessity for overloading the trailers with such equipment.

No trailerite will object to a few simple and sensible regulations but he insists that these shall be made intelligently, with a friendly eye on the traveler and with hands off by the envious and those elements who, for personal reasons, hate and oppose the trailer development. Along the sanitary line there may be valid objection to allowing drainage from the trailer sink to merely run out onto the ground, especially if any considerable number of vehicles are parked together. In hot weather these small cesspools will undoubtedly attract flies and mosquitoes, create an offensive odor and prove unsightly. Few trailerites would object strenuously to a camp rule prescribing that some receptacle be maintained to collect this drainage, emptied in a proper place at least once a day and kept reasonably clean itself.

No one but a human hog likewise can object to rules forbidding the throwing of garbage and other perishable matter about the trailer premises. Outside of these few items there is no sanitary problem among the trailers.

Personal Problems
Ventilation, elimination of dampness in the trailer, proper handling and care of food, heating, protection from flies and insects, etc., are matters scarcely within the province of local health authorities. Most trailer travelers are citizens of better than ordinary class whose general intelligence and demands for comfort are sufficient to take care of these features as well as the sanitary problems. So it seems that the ever-ready and ultra-zealous regulator is unduly exercising himself—and herself—over the alleged dire dangers menacing both the trailer-ite and the communities he favors with his presence.

For the last seven months I have been traveling over several states or been parked along main highways of the south. Hundreds of trailers have passed or been inspected. Nowhere have I found the trailers considered a source of danger or a problem to the communities visited. While they are numerous in the south in winter they do not bulk large in the total of traffic.

On Way Home
We are on the way at last to the old Wisconsin home and seem to be among the rear guard of trailerites. The first breath of spring sent many northward and the recent advent of hot weather completed a stampede. The Gulf coast weather had been mild and delightful up to May 17 when a hot wave arrived and sent the mercury to 90 and above. We have seen very few trailers on the highways during the week since we left Biloxi, Miss.

Wisconsin will receive an enlarged influx of trailers this coming summer and will profit accordingly. A wise community will arrange to welcome and accommodate these travelers who spend a good deal of sound money wherever they are encouraged. If Appleton would set apart a tract of level ground, preferably with some trees, at the edge of the city, string in an electric line with a few simple connections and provide clean toilets even without showers, it would profit substantially before the season is over. If the city does not do this the enterprise would be a most worthy one for one of the civil clubs to undertake.

75 Arrests Made for Fish, Game Violations

About 75 persons have been arrested this year on the Wolf river from Oshkosh to the Shawano county line for violation of fish and game laws, Conservation Warden George Whalen said today. The majority of violators were arrested for having fish traps, snag lines and for selling game fish.

Illegal equipment seized by wardens was about one-third less than last year, according to Mr. Whalen. Twenty-five snag lines were seized this year compared to 150 lines last year while 7 fish traps have been taken this year compared to 336 traps last year.

Students Deposit $156; Withdraw $77 During Bank Day

Although the end of the present school term is near, Appleton students deposited $156.24 and withdrew only $77.04 during the bank day at school last week. The total now on deposit at the First National bank is $11,209.24.

Roosevelt Junior High school students led all groups by depositing $32.69 with the Edison Grade school in second place with $25.21. With six out of seven students making deposits the deaf room at Lincoln school led in the percentage rating of having the largest majority of students make deposits.

Amounts deposited include Columbus school $15.82, Jefferson $9.97, deaf room $1.97; McKinley Grade school $3.60, Franklin $3.17, Washington $2.76, Lincoln $4.07, opportunity room 84 cents, McKinley Junior High school $6.43, Wilson

Junior High school $19.71, sundries $30.

60 Local Students to Attend Summer Session

About 60 Appleton High school students will attend the annual summer school session at the Out-game County Rural school, Kaukauna, in June. Miss Mary Corrier, English teacher at the high school, will be one of the instructors at the 5-week session. Classes will be held in the morning six days a week. The tuition fee is $5 per student with this including free text books.

Kissing Baby on Mouth Is Dangerous Practice

Madison—Kissing the baby on the mouth is dangerous, advises the State Medical Society in its weekly health bulletin.

"Of course, a mother wants to kiss her baby to show her tenderness, but even the mother should be careful how she kisses the baby. She should make it a rule to kiss baby on the forehead or on the cheeks, or safer yet, on the nape of the neck. Why? Because tiny germs, invisible to the eye, are too easily and too frequently carried in the mouth."

germs of tuberculosis, grippa, diphtheria and other diseases which may be communicated by such a kiss. Also, it is not a good practice to kiss the baby's hands and fingers as they immediately find their way to his mouth, and thus, germs are transmitted from parents to the baby.

Keep Away With Cold
"A cautious mother will not allow the baby to come in contact with a person who has a cold. Such persons should not be allowed to handle the baby or breathe in his face, nor should they sneeze or cough in the same room."

baby's face off. This is another dangerous germ-spreading practice. "The baby can't be run through a sterilizing solution or kept from eating his share of dirt, but there are ways and means of preventing him from getting more than necessary. Infection and contagion may easily be avoided by a few precautionary measures such as these mentioned above."

"Playtime for the baby is between four and six o'clock in the afternoon. He is apt to be awake at that time and ready for play, so show him off then, but keep an evil eye on the kissing situation."

Burdick Asks Care to Check Weekend Mishaps

An appeal for extraordinary caution by motorists and pedestrians over the Memorial day weekend to reduce the toll of traffic accidents has been made by West A. Burdick, director of the state highway commission safety department.

On the last weekend of May last year, 166 serious motor vehicle accidents killed 15 persons in Wisconsin and injured 148 more, Burdick recalled.

ARE WE FOLLOWING ROME?

One need not be scared to see in the now slowly unfolding Roosevelt scheme a new form of Fascism, a modified form it is true made to fit the particular facts, circumstances and temperaments that exist in this land of ours, but carrying the profile of Fascism nevertheless.

First there is the concentration of authority, the most dangerous element in the entire picture. This is followed by autocratic power handed to bureaucrats, that is men appointed largely through influence and responsible to no one excepting their appointing master.

It should be of interest to the American people as we leave the safe moorings of our solid past and step out into the black night to read what it is possible eventually to find ahead of us. Col. Knox of the Chicago News and recently a candidate for vice-president of the United States, has been in Italy interviewing Mussolini and trying to find the head and tail of fascism, the basis upon which it rests, its faults and its virtues.

His first article is divided into two parts, its relations with the employer and the worker. Dealing first with the labor union he says:

"The worker has been bereft of his right to strike, to have any effective voice in dealing with wages, hours of labor or working conditions. He is not even free to choose who shall represent him in these matters. He is completely at the mercy of the political leaders who decide these matters with finality."

That is rather a complete statement. Labor is stripped naked of authority. It cannot even peep.

But what about the employers? Fascism acted quicker and faster in Italy than it may be expected to act in America but it was somewhat progressive nevertheless in that it gobbled up the worker first, his employer afterward.

The employer supported Fascism in Italy. He thought a bright day had arrived if the workers' union could only be suppressed. He figured that if he could get the politicians to do that he could control the politicians. But he didn't know the politicians. They have the ambitions of a Caesar too.

Continue with Col. Knox's description of the way Fascism extended itself:

"The politicians put a prompt end to labor agitation, doted labor agitators with castror oil, or when necessary, exiled them, destroyed existing labor unions, and set up in their stead the so-called Corporative System with a corporation for each industry including both workers in that industry and the employers."

"The control thus set up was effective as to workers but—to the surprise and consternation of the employers—it was equally effective as to the control of employers. The worker's liberty of action was destroyed, but so was the liberty of action of the employers. Both quickly became abject before the dictatorial Mussolini."

"Thus the employers found in Fascism an escape from dispute with their workers, but found also enslavement off all industry by a political machine they helped to set up."

Col. Knox has written about the softest, kindest and least ruthless dictatorship of any consequence in the world, but, as he writes, when he questioned Mussolini on the way the Corporative System works he could get nothing further than the brief reply that "this system was necessary to meet Italian conditions."

The President of limitless ambition and thirsting for more power, has already destroyed safeguards that for 150 years have prevented an American Mussolini. But the barriers are down. What now? Before we step on in wild and heedless emulation of the Italian system consider the description of prevailing conditions there as described by Col. Knox:

"Today no employer has the final word about the wages he must pay his workers, the length of day or week they must work, the prices to be charged for the product of the industry, where it will be sold, and how much he will be able to make. He is no more than the worker who works for him. These questions are settled by the government with respect to all business, big or little."

"The Italian Corporative System is little more than a shell, a mere pretense to cover up the actual political control exercised by the political machine, whereof Benito Mussolini is the actual, as well as official, head. Some accessible husk was needed to cloak this political control of all business and industry. Therefore the so-called Corporative System was evolved and set up."

Events that have transpired in this country within very recent memory are such that any reasonable person is justified in fearing the consequences down the road. The curse of all such systems lies in the fact that when you enter them too far you lose control of yourself, your hands are tied, your eyes blindfolded and you must submit thereafter to being led.

MURPHY ON THE RIGHT TRACK
Michigan's governor spoke at New York the other day asserting that the "rights of the worker should be guaranteed by law the same as those of employers, and clearly defined by all courts."

Mr. Murphy has the right idea but the technique of his procedure is not precise. The regulation of strikes and industrial disputes in many of their most annoying phases may be easily controlled by our legislative bodies but mere regulation does not get down to the base that should be built.

The right to a job after once having had it, and there appearing no fair or legitimate reason for losing it, should be protected as a property right. That apparently is what Governor Murphy aims at. But to achieve this result we want no packed courts nor the employment of other means that are shady. It is not seen how the right of the worker to a "property" in his job can be accomplished without a declaration of that principle in our constitution. It certainly would terminate a pile of dispute and dissension in this country were such a provision to be found in the constitution.

And yet, if it were there, how could the workers be kept aroused politically?

We seem to balance the right of the working men to sound underlying principles on the one hand and the right of office seekers to keep those working men uncertain by waving a wisp of hay in front of them and never letting them get at the bag of oats.

DRINK TO McNUTT
The Lord High Commissioner of the Philippine islands, Paul V. McNutt, who received his divine right of rule from none other than our own President, has ordered that throughout the islands when a toast is being drunk at any banquet, he shall be toasted ahead of Commonwealth President Manuel Quezon.

It should strike anger into the hearts of all Americans to think that these ingratious Filipinos, who so recently received their grant of freedom from the United States, should dare to toast their own president in advance of the Lord High Commissioner.

Reports are that a number of Filipino "higher-ups" are prepared to test out Commissioner McNutt on his edict by planning a formal banquet and drinking the health of President Quezon first. They want to see what the commissioner will "do about it."

Let there be no doubt about it. If such occasion arise let's have no quibbling. Call out the Marines! Give them a sight of the bayonet's gleam! Such a slight cannot be borne!

We have sent this great statesman to these islands to assist them in the grave problem of assuming the control of their own affairs under a free government. We cannot let him down in such a crisis!

THE EUGENICS LAW
Wisconsin is planning this year to strengthen the eugenics marriage law which for more than two decades has aided in the state's fight to reduce venereal diseases and the consequence of them.

The law has been important chiefly as a factor in enlightening the people of the prevalence of the two diseases and the results that come from disregarding them.

Its effect is educational rather than corrective. It requires a medical certificate that the man is free from venereal disease and provides a five days' interim between the issuance of a marriage license and the performance of the marriage ceremony.

Memory recalls that the law was enacted against a good deal of sentimental opposition that has now completely disappeared. It is accepted for the value it has if it is evaded by some who cross state lines to avoid the delay it entails or the examination it requires there is no evidence that there are more of such bootleg marriages than there were before the law was enacted.

There are two amendments being prepared which proponents say will strengthen the law. One is to make it apply to women as well as to men, and the second is to make the Wassermann blood test mandatory. Both proposals seem to be desirable.

It is properly presumed that no honorable person will marry conscious of an affliction which if disregarded is a threat to the marriage and a menace to the children who may come of it.

Physicians say that many women approaching marriage voluntarily are inviting tests to insure their normal physical condition. The Wassermann test which Wisconsin has made available at a low cost or without cost should be required. It is a primary weapon in the war against syphilis and the first line of offense against the dread secondary effects of the disease.

It is significant that a large percentage of divorces granted in Wisconsin courts are to persons married outside of the state. The interim between the issuance of the license and the ceremony serves to prevent marriages of impulse and the medical requirements certify the absence of physical conditions which are notoriously probable to wreck the marriage.

The law which was enacted in 1915 has more than justified itself as a boon to Wisconsin and an example to other states.—Chicago Tribune.

A motorcycle speed of 137 miles an hour, established in 1906 by Glenn Curtiss, stood for ten years as a record speed for all forms of locomotion.

Texas led all other states in 1936 in the production of men's work clothing.

THE battle is on over the 40-hour-week-40-cents-an-hour measure and for all of me the boys can't battle . . . In the first place, I am reasonably sure that a newspaper is not to be classified as being in interstate commerce—although with the Supreme court gone modern, you can't tell what might happen next—and in the second place, I am thinking about what the NRA did to and for people . . . the old eagle was pretty much of a culture as I recall it, and business, during the time it was flapping about, got to be pretty lousy for some reason I never quite understood . . . in fact, the NRA was blamed for retarding business over Mr. Big's protests and Mr. Big protested even if his family's dividends from stocks were considerably larger after NRA was bounced out . . .

The thought also occurs to me that if the federal misgovernment is to have the say-so about these matters, it is not unlikely that it will one day have the say-so about strikes. Since strikes cost money, and since there is no reason why government employees—with the government in so many businesses—can't get the striking idea, too, maybe the government can move a step nearer Fascism and bar all labor disputes.

Oddly enough, the matter of employing some four million people is supposed to happen as a result of the new wage and hour proposals. Somehow, I recall hearing about that back in 1933, and somehow I also recall that shortly after the first rise in employment, the jobs began to fall off.

Your correspondent is an advocate of high wages and short hours, and was, long before the advent of Mr. Big and his various methods of keeping the sheep lined up in the right way. For that matter, Henry Ford and Colonel Proctor had and have the same idea. Mr. Big would like to take credit for it, however, and so he does.

On the west coast, the German Nazi flag is yanked from the display at the Golden Gate bridge festivities.

In the mid-west, a Cardinal is the subject of German Nazi attacks, following his declarations.

On the east coast, Dr. Eckner of Germany pleads for helium.

The C.I.O. strikes are getting to be tiresome reading, so many of them are there. The most novel strike, however, will be that one of the A. F. of L. Longshoremen's union which contemplates striking against ships employing C.I.O. members.

Anyone wanting to organize a new union had better get started and join in on the fun. At the rate we're going, it looks like the nation may take a vacation this summer.

A Verse for Today

By Anne Campbell

THE MOTHER OF A SCOUT SPEAKS

I do not worry any more.
Fears do not trouble me, nor doubts.
Because the boy whom I adore
Has joined the Scouts.

His hands are filled in leisure hours;
His mind is busy all day long.
His mental growth, his moral powers
Are true and strong.

His thoughts are logical and fine.
His heart warms to his fellow man.
With joy in life his young eyes shine.
Since he began.

He finds God in the hills and woods.
And learns the language of the trees.
Unraveling through Nature's mood
Life's mysterious.

I see a life that has few flaws
Emerging from my loving doubts . . .
He'll be a better man because He joined the Scouts!

WORK OR PLAY STEADIES THE NATIONAL "NERVES"

Drugs are important factors of the Yankee "nervous" complex. Never before have children in their teens and adult morons been subjected to such enticement to use drugs as they encounter everywhere in this country today.

Little by little the old taboos against depraving the morals of youth have given way before powerful propaganda in behalf of drugs until the truth about the effects of tobacco and alcohol has become almost submerged by the plausible pseudo-scientific teachings of the propagandists. Under this tutelage and example children in their teens commonly acquire the tobacco or alcohol habit or both, resorting to the drug first because they have been taught that it is smart to do so, then because they discover it relieves consciousness of inferiority, and presently adopting it to inhibit the instinctive urge to do something—to fight or to run away. The physical exertion involved in these natural reactions to emotions physiologically utilizes or absorbs the surplus energy liberated by the emotion (adrenin secretion, mobilization of blood sugar, rise of blood pressure, deeper breathing, forcible rapid heart beat, muscular trembling or contraction or rigidity). Where circumstances, such as breeding, manners, culture, make it unseemly to engage in actual combat or flight, some vicarious or substitute reaction may harness the suddenly released energy and so protect the heart, arteries and if you like the nervous system from damage by the storm. But to resort to a drug which, like tobacco or alcohol, dulls the consciousness and the finer sensibilities, instead of some form of muscular action, work, play, exercise, to overcome embarrassment or relieve tension, is to train for a "nervous breakdown" and no mistake.

Other drugs than tobacco and alcohol play a part in the development of typical Yankee "nervous weakness," "nervous strain," "nervous exhaustion" or "neurasthenia," notably bromides, aspirin and such central derivatives as acetanilide, phenacetin and pyramidal (amidopyrine)—drugs which the morose portion of the population is freely advised to use for relief of any and all discomforts or diseases, from anxiety or fatigue to grip or headache. People who used these ready anesthetics so freely for fear over distress they feel or fear they'll feel evidently do not know and generally do not want to know that besides dulling pain sense and the finer sensibilities such drugs interfere with the vital oxygen-carrying function of the blood, destroy or cripple red blood corpuscles and in not a few instances seriously damage the heart.

In sanatoriums occupational therapy, work cure, is now widely employed. Passing the grounds of a large state institution for the insane one will see several games in progress—men having great fun playing three old cat's women in a softball game—and one thinks how unfortunate they had to wait till they landed in the funny factory to learn how valuable and important play is. Many women who had sunk pretty low during the boom days and had to resume doing their own housework during the depression discovered to their joy that honest physical labor brings health and contentment.

Your Birthday

"GEMINI"
If May 28 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 11 a. m. to 1 p. m. from 3 to 5 p. m. and from 9 to 11 p. m. The danger periods are from 9 to 11 a. m. from 5 to 7 p. m. and from 11 p. m. until midnight.

Courtesy will pay good dividends this day. You may have the chance of gaining a worthwhile friendship by showing someone a little consideration. One of the greatest mistakes anyone can make this day will be to assume a dictatorial attitude, or attempt to regulate some other person's life. Many people will suffer from an inferiority complex, and to try to cover it up they are likely to resort to rudeness. It may pay you to be deaf to unkind remarks and blind to apparent faults. It will be good judgment to take detrimental gossip or rumors regarding friends and relatives with a grain of salt, for they are likely to be untrue. Do not be afraid to say what you think, if you are fully justified in so doing. Married and engaged couples, as well as those who are in love, should be very discreet in what they say and do this day.

If a woman and your birthday is May 28, you most likely, are a person of mixed emotions and varying moods. Friends are indispensable to your happiness, and a happy home is essential to your contentment. Through social activities you ought to find a great deal of pleasure and gain popularity that should prove helpful in a career. You have probably a lot of self-assurance, which may lead you to recent advice that might be worth considering. It would be good judgment to remember it always pays to listen, which does not mean you have to be influenced by what you hear. As a professional hostess, interior decorator, specialty store or restaurant manager, author or entertainer you may win substantial recognition. Marriage, it would seem, plays an important part in the future prospects of your well-being and happiness.

The child born on May 28, may require firm handling in early childhood. It has many fine qualities that need to be developed, and must not be left to chance to assert themselves. This youngster's future appears to be full of promise.

If a man and May 28 is your natal day, energy, an perseverence will be largely responsible for your success. Law, medicine, chemistry, art, engineering, writing or working of an educational nature are excellent activities for you to undertake.

Successful People Born on May 28:

Seen And Heard In New York

BY GEORGE TUCKER
New York—Personal notes off a New Yorker's cuff:

Art thieves are busily engaged in their usual summer thefting of styles and furniture lines. They are usually pretty girls and you may observe them sketching the new displays in the avenue shops and windows. . . . Their job is to sketch the new creations and rush them back to their employers, who do a landslide business in "reproducing" the new numbers.

This is really a remarkable achievement. . . . In the 500 performances of "Victoria Regina" there has never been a single empty seat in the balcony. . . . It may surprise you to know that only 39 plays in theatrical history have surpassed the 500 mark. . . . Some time this summer Margaret Sullivan is going to have her baby, but this won't interfere with her career. . . . In December she will come back to reopen in "Stage Door."

"You can't take it with you" is "financially, the most successful play of the year, but I am rather surprised at its winning the Pulitzer award. . . . It is after all, smart force with a lot of funny lines and it is perfectly cast. . . . But walk away from the theater and it is out of your mind. . . . Practically everybody had the hunch that "High Tor" would win. . . . This observer thought it was the most deserving piece of a long and sometimes exciting but generally mediocre season.

It seems to me that the Pulitzer award, theatrically at least, doesn't mean as much as it used to. . . . The whole idea has lost prestige, principally because the board reverses itself so frequently, setting up regulations for one season or so and then knocking them over without further explanation.

For instance, there used to be a rule that plays based on novels could not win. . . . But from time to time dramatizations of modern novels bobbed up and then the hits and the board unblinkingly showed the award that way. . . . "The Old Maid" was such an instance,

A Bystander In Washington

BY PRESTON GROVER

Washington—The British admiralty quickly came to the relief of the American naval building program, as well as its own, after the report that an airplane bomb had sunk the battleship Espana. There has been a lot of talk about what airplanes can do to warships, and this demonstration was a hair-raiser.

Freighter Saves Day
But along came the British admiralty. Barely had the sea claimed the Espana—an old tub that you could split open with a pocket knife—when the admiralty published the report of a freighter captain who said he saw the planes, but didn't see them bomb the warship. It must have been a mine that took the Espana down, he said. Sure enough, said the admiralty, and went ahead with its ship building.

As a matter of fact, some of the smarter arm-chair fighting men in these parts think the air forces haven't demonstrated so much killing power in Spain as might have been expected. On the other hand the rebel naval blockade has been extremely punishing. But let's not fight that out here. Many a good fighting man will go to his grave before that issue finally is determined.

Behind The Bench
Court scene: Justice Brandeis, while listening to arguments on the validity of a Georgia tobacco warehousing tax, pressed an attorney to explain why warehousing should be considered in interstate commerce when growing the tobacco was considered not so. (The Supreme Court held in the A. A. case that agriculture was strictly a local industry.) The attorney squirmed. He wouldn't say that agriculture was not in interstate commerce, but he insisted that problem was not involved in the Georgia case. Brandeis kept insisting until Justice McReynolds cut in, acid as a horse radish:

"Why don't you answer him yes or no and be done with it?" The attorney blinked. Brandeis grinned, stopped his questioning, whispered a remark in Justice Brandeis's ear and they both chuckled. Probably Brandeis said:

"Do you know, I don't think that fellow McReynolds likes me so well." Which is undoubtedly true enough.

but in that case I thought the choice was excellent. . . . To me the last scene in that piece was one of the most effective moments I remember in the theater.

Ed fishing is again luring New Yorkers who have free hours in the afternoon, and you may see them perched on the end of the Hudson river docks, hoping for strikes from those horrible looking specimens of marine life. . . . They are a great delicacy, I suppose. . . . At least, the markets are doing a fine business with them. . . . The restaurants advertise them, and everybody eats them. . . . Excuse me, but I want no part of those fellows, not even on a hook at the end of a line.

The Eighth avenue express is the best avenue of approach to either the Yankee Stadium or the Polo Ground, if you like baseball. . . . It stops only at 59th and 125th streets. . . . If you want the Stadium, you remain on the express. . . . To reach the Polo Grounds you switch to a local at 125th and get off at 155, which is right at the box-office window.

Here and There Around World

CROMWELL TO RESCUE
London—(7)—T. M. Sexton, Laborite M.P., has discovered an inaccuracy in the dates of Charles the Second's reign as inscribed on the front of the Houses of Parliament. He wants the government to correct it by adding a record of Oliver Cromwell's interregnum, 1649-1660, to the inscription.

COLONIES AND TOURISTS
Rome—(7)—Italy's foreign trade is lifting its head above the receding flood water of the sanctions which tried to drown it, according to figures of the Central Institute of Statistics.

Among other good signs, imports from the colonies to the motherland jumped from $1,040,000 to $1,770,000 in the first two months of this year, and exports to the colonies from $11,500,000 to $17,600,000. Furthermore, the tourist trade is booming with steamships—especially those running to the United States—coming in filled to the gunwales.

'Old Men' of 45 Get Comeback in U. S. Industry

Cleveland—(7)—"Old men," aged 45 and up, are staging a comeback in industry, the Ohio state employment service says.

"Lack of maturing apprentices, as in normal years, is in part responsible for re-employment of older workers," said E. C. Seiple, manager of the Cleveland office. "In the depression gap, with workshops closed, naturally this training was not continued.

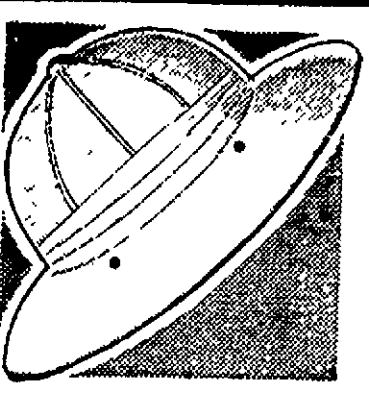

"This break in the line of industrial preparation is more apparent now with the return to general business improvement." Records of the state service show that during a recent two-month period 41 per cent of placements of skilled workers in private industry were men from 45 to 65 and over.

Many men at 45 have just reached the place where experience makes them really valuable and dependable," said J. H. Roubush, employment service official. "Our reports show that older workers recently placed are holding their own, keeping up with the pace and are some of the best workers in the factories."

Volunteers to Conduct Poppy Sale Saturday

Legion Auxiliary Headquarters Will be at Conway Hotel

Oney Johnston post, American Legion auxiliary members Saturday will join with legion auxiliaries throughout the United States to raise approximately $1,000,000 for the relief and rehabilitation of disabled veterans and fatherless children of veterans, by the sale of memorial poppies.

Volunteers will be on the streets early Saturday and will remain on duty throughout the day receiving contributions from the public which will wear the poppies in memory of the war dead.

This money forms the principal support of the vast rehabilitation and child welfare program carried out constantly by the auxiliary in cooperation with the American Legion.

Local headquarters for poppy day will be at the Conway hotel. Junior auxiliary headquarters will be at the Appleton Women's club.

Women in almost every city and town in the United States will take part in the memorial poppy program. The American Legion auxiliary, with its 425,000 members and 9,000 local units, sponsors the work, aided by women and girls from other groups. Last year nearly 10,000,000 of the little flowers were distributed and this year the number is expected to increase to 12,000,000.

Father Woelfel Celebrates Mass

Newly Ordained Priest at First Solmen High Mass in Chilton

Chilton—The Rev. Leonard Woelfel, who was ordained to the priesthood at Green Bay Saturday, celebrated his first solemn high mass in St. Mary's church in this city at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning. The procession formed at the rectory, being escorted by the Holy Name society, followed by the senior acolytes and the visiting clergy, 30 in number. This was followed by little Georgiana Reiser, an angel, accompanied by two little flower girls, Joan Rehauer and Barbara Heiman. Little Betty Lou Woelfel, niece of Father Woelfel, was the bride. She was gown in white net over white satin, and her train was borne by two pages, Arno Bruckner and Richard Radey, dressed in white satin with gold lined capes and plumed hats. Then came Father Woelfel, with the presbyter assistant, the Rev. H. E. Hunck of St. Mary's church of Chilton; the Rev. Francis Heilmann, Jericho, as deacon; the Rev. Alfred Pritzl, subdeacon; the Rev. Anselm Keefe, rector of St. Norbert's college of DePere.

As the procession entered the church, the choir, under the direction of the organist Mrs. Ann Klinkner, sang the "Dulcitate Deo," followed by the "Veni Creator."

The choir sang the mass in honor of St. Vincent. At the offertory, the "Cantata Domino" was sung. At the closing benediction the choir sang "O Salutaris and Tantum Ergo." The service ended with a festival recessional.

The Rev. Father Keefe preached the sermon, and Father Woelfel then gave his blessing to the assembly. Eight newly ordained priests who were present also gave their blessing.

After the mass, dinner was served in the church to about 400 relatives and friends. This was followed by a reception, after which the following musical program, directed by Mrs. Klinkner, was given: number 1, Mrs. Klinkner's Juvenile Drum corps, in uniform; a drum solo by Henry Kienner, Jr.; a song by the entire group, with Betty Schmitt as soloist; a tap dance by Herbert Bailey; piano accordion solo, by Helen Roell; harmonica and piano duet, by Dolly Kienner and Myrtle Koepf; solo, "The Rosary," by Marie Wilbersheid; and "The Holy City" sung by Charles Hein and Otto Parman.

Father Woelfel is the son of Gustave Woelfel, and was born in Chilton, Wis., Oct. 14, 1908. He graduated from St. Mary's parochial school, the Chilton High school, the Salvatorian Seminary at St. Nazianz, St. Norbert's college at DePere, and St. Francis Seminary at St. Francis.

Pegler Tells of His Work As Soda-Jerk in Chicago

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York — It is wrong to muzzle the ox which treads the corn, but did I ever tell you about the time I worked as a soda-jerk in a big Chicago department store?

Well, it was one summer along about 1912, and the pay was $10 a week for a 12-hour day. It was hard work, too, dishing up banana splits and angel's wings and sliding along greasy duck-boards in soggy shoes, in addition to the off-stage tasks of shining up the bright work and scouring urns after hours.

The soda-men were allowed to nibble in slack moments, but they were supposed not to set them up for the help from other departments, such as the shirts and underwear and neckties. However, you could watch the buyer and head soda man, and if they happened to be out of sight you could put on the come-and-get-it for the girls at the merchandise counters.

Not all together, of course, but one at a time. If the buyer and the head soda man persisted in hanging around to muzzle the kine you could dish up a pineapple surprise with whipped cream and marachinos, stick it down in an empty ice cream tube and give some girl the nod to meet you out on the loading platform where the ice cream storage bins were.

These were very nice girls, so sometimes, in the employees' elevator going upstairs after work, a girl would give a soda jerk the elbow in the crowd and slip him a couple of pairs of socks or a shirt or a suit of underwear. You could conceal this beneath your bar apron until you reached your locker and there, while changing into your street clothes, put it on, extra, whatever it was, and just wear it out with you past the house detectives at the door.

House Detectives Would Stand Watch Over Employees

The house detectives would stand watch, and if you were carrying any kind of package, you either had to show a sales slip for it or open it up to let him see. The house detectives thought they were pretty bright, but notwithstanding the muzzle, the ox consumed plenty of corn.

Up on the balcony where light lunch was served there was a little cubicle about the size of a cracker-box containing a steaming sink where a fat, Polish immigrant girl called Teeny used to stand all day, washing dishes. It gets terribly hot in Chicago anyway, and in that steam, the poor Polish girl was like to smother, and she used to cry most of the time. Her dress and shoes were always sopping from the overflow from the sink.

She couldn't speak any English at all, and when we would ask her what was the matter, and try to sympathize with her she would slobber her hot dishrag at the slot in the wall where we were constantly shoving in more and more soiled dishes. But when we would shove through a piece of layer cake or a chocolate nut sundae or a few sheets walk out with one apple, orange or slice of ham.

He was always catching some waiter going out the door at night with half a chicken on his hip and said, "Multiply that by 250 times 365 days in a year and tell me where I would be."

Maybe so, but I will bet his oxen managed to knock off a few sorts of corn and a few chicken-halves nevertheless, because it is against the old testament to muzzle the ox that treads the corn.

Corn is of great variety. It is bundles of lath and shingles and kegs of nails in the building trades, and I suppose it is square cut emeralds in the jewelry business and batches of A. T. and T. stock broker's office.

CONCRETE for Safety on your holiday trip

ON your holiday trip can you keep on concrete all the way? You're lucky if you can! Concrete roads are swifter, safer, more comfortable, saving on gas, tires and your car. They get the holiday parade through with fewer jams and delays.

Your holiday is safer on concrete. Safer at night—obstacles stand out plainly in front of your headlights.

Safer in wet weather, too. Crowns are lower—always uniform. No tendency to slip off the side. Traffic doesn't crowd to the center of the road. The gritty surface provides better traction at any speed.

Every car is a better car on concrete—swifter but safer!

Strong Child Owes Debt Of Honor to Weaker One

BY ANGELO PATRI

Dear Boys of the Fifth Year:
You are fine and strong, quick on your feet, fast with your hands. You can get about as fast as squirrels and you are as tireless as they are in your play. You can swim and run and play ball with the best. Your muscle is as hard as a rock. You feel fine.
That is the way a Fifth Year lad ought to feel, right up on his toes. I want to point out to you that fellows who are so strong, who have the strength and ability to take care of themselves anywhere, owe a debt of honor to all those who haven't the same electric currents running through their toes and fingers. As you are strong, so should you be gentle.

That is an old law of chivalry. An old law for gentlemen. The stronger they were the gentler they were, never using their power selfishly. They were honor-bound to consider those weaker than themselves, to serve them, to put off their own concerns and take on those of the weaker ones and fight their battles if need be. That was their debt of honor. It is also yours.

When you come across a boy weaker than you are, one who is timid and afraid, stand by to see him through his troubles. Don't push him down stairs because he is poking slowly ahead of you. Put your arm under his and sort of give him a lift along, and down you go together easily as the brook runs down the hill.

If you are bright in arithmetic help the fellow who is dubbing along. Go over his homework with him. You can help him better than any teacher can. Give him a few minutes of your time every day. He will adore you for it and you will feel mighty good to know it.

Girls are not to be teased, their hair pulled, their berets pulled off. They haven't as much of that electric power you have, so they don't feel so peppy. Salute them as you go by, gaily, with a laugh and a cheery word. If a girl is in trouble of any sort, like trying to hold on a hat and keep a coat buttoned in the face of the wind while both hands are full of books don't laugh and knock the books out of her hands. Your debt of honor is being called in. Go to the rescue. Take the books and carry them until she turns the corner and the wind blows the other way. Just be kind. I have a big dog, a real big one who could push me down with his front paws if he wanted to. He is very gentle. He moves about the place with easy, softly padding steps. He rarely barks. When strangers come near the house he rises from his place and very gently walks toward them. If he thinks they qualify for entrance he steps aside, waving his great tail like a plume.

There is a little wire-hair who comes awailing. Big Dog looks benignly upon him steps around him, shakes him off when he gets too playful with his sharp little teeth, but never once does he offer to punish him. One day the little wire-hair was very annoying, nipping his paws, hanging on to his thick hair, but Sandy patiently suffered him. A big dog came down the lane to the drive, a very big, very ugly looking fellow. Sandy stalked to the drive stood across it, every hair on end, a deep warning growl in his throat, his teeth bared and gleaming. Big Dog Stranger, gave one look, then trotted along about his business. Sandy

Appleton Jaces Plan Attendance At State Meeting

Several Local Jaces to Take Part in Convention Business Session

Several Appleton Junior Chamber of Commerce members will play important parts at the annual Jace convention May 28-31 at Rhinelander. The convention proper will open Saturday noon and continue through Monday afternoon. About 25 local members plan to attend.

Harold Finger will be featured on the Saturday afternoon program when Jaces consider "Plans for Increasing the Membership." Walter Brummond is a member of the convention resolution committee.

R. C. Swanson has been named by local Jaces as their state director for 1937-38 and he will meet with directors from other clubs during the conclave. The official delegates are Fred Boughton, Walter Brummond and Harold Finger. George Holzkecht, Roy McNeil and Wilmer Falk are alternates.

Explain New Project
The Appleton club's new project of awarding medals to outstanding heroes in Outagamie county will be explained by Fred Boughton at one of the convention meetings. He will suggest that other Jace organizations in the state will start similar projects.

Guest Speaker
Marvin Hurley, executive secretary of the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce, will be guest speaker at the opening meeting of the convention Saturday noon. The Paul Bunyon feed and convention stag party will be held Friday night as the unofficial opening of the session.

All Jaces will take part in the parade which will feature activities Sunday afternoon. Musical organizations from various junior chamber of commerce units and a group of CCC boys who are located at a camp near Rhinelander also will take part.

The auxiliary to the junior chamber of commerce will hold its convention at Rhinelander at the same time. The auxiliary session will open with a luncheon meeting Saturday afternoon. The official business meeting will be held at 11 o'clock Monday morning with the topic, "Should Wisconsin Organize a State Auxiliary Unit," scheduled for discussion.

Recommend Separate Pasture for Cattle

Pasturing cattle separately rather than in community pastures is the surest means of preventing the spread of cattle disease into a disease-free herd, Dr. W. Wisnicky, state director of livestock sanitation, warned in a communication received today by R. C. Swanson, county agent.

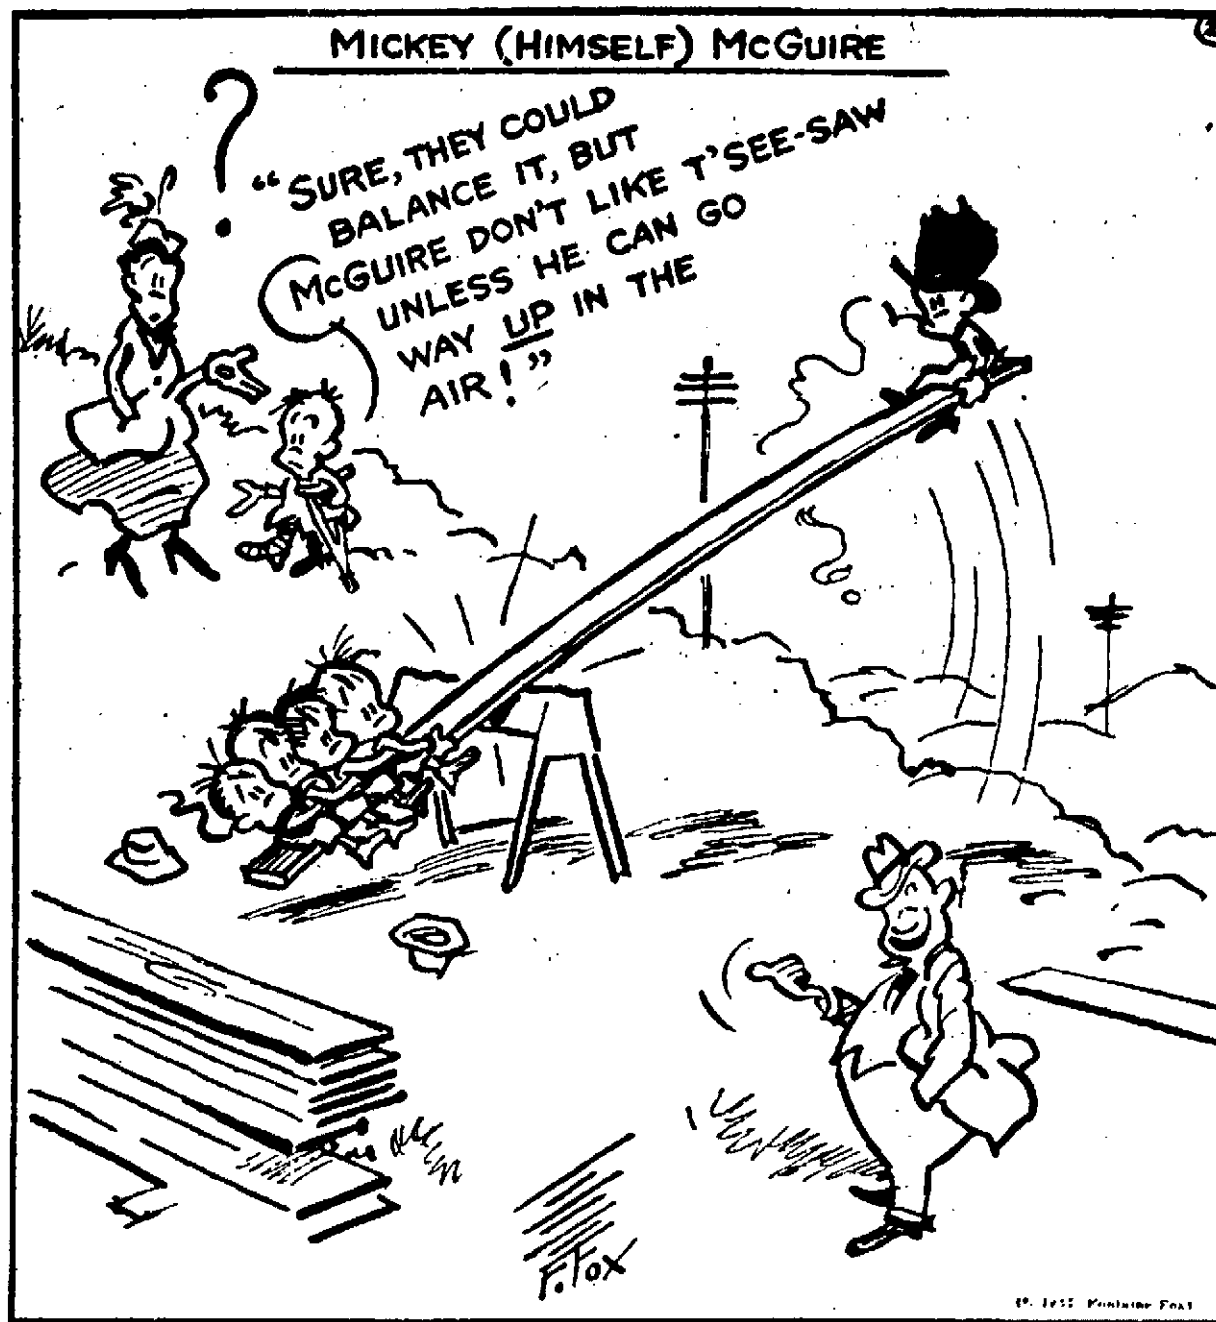

When, of necessity, a herd is to be placed in a community pasture, Wisnicky urged the herd owner to learn positively that all other cattle using the same pasture originate in tuberculosis free herds and from herds that are free from Bang's disease. Particularly is it important that all cattle in a community pasture originate from Bang free herds because the incidence of this infection in Wisconsin is higher than that of bovine tuberculosis.

Bang's disease, bovine tuberculosis, and other infectious maladies can be spread easily into herds bringing Bang's disease to cause losses to the dairy farmers.

Report $1,381 Subscribed to Salvation Army

General Campaign in Appleton Will Close Friday Night

An additional $372.65, bringing the total to $1,381.20, was reported at the report supper last night at the Y.M.C.A. which closed the second day in the annual Salvation Army drive for funds. The total is an increase over the first two days' campaign report of last year.

The general campaign will close Friday evening and persons not solicited during that time are asked by Adjutant Len Burridge to send their donations to the Salvation Army headquarters.

Among the reasons he lists for persons to give their support to the organization are that the Salvation Army is saving taxpayers of the state thousands of dollars by cleaning up delinquency and pauperism. It is willing to do the work of saving prodigal sons and daughters. It stands for the unemployed who come from the cities and become the social problem of towns. It is a trained social service center, and it asks no community to deprive itself of its own relief funds.

Showdown Approaches On Michigan Measure

Lansing, Mich. —(P)—Embattled Democratic factions in the house of representatives planned a showdown vote today on the issue of providing compensation for occupational diseases.

Party leaders sought strenuously to restore peace in the family as the vote impended. Pressure was exerted on Representative John F. Hamilton, Democrat, Detroit, to have him withdraw a charge that "somebody in the labor committee has sold out" to opponents of occupational disease legislation. Representative Joseph F. Martin, Jr., the committee chairman and also a Detroit Democrat, said he considered the remarks a personal affront.

The senate-approved bill Hamilton endorsed was the one before the house today for a vote. A substitute, drawn by Martin, lay dead in Martin's own committee, killed by rebellious committee members. Hamilton had charged its writing was dictated by the Michigan Manufacturers' association.

The senate bill provides a list of 31 occupational diseases, for which compensation could be claimed in the event of disability or death of an employee. Hamilton's substitute plan would lengthen the list, and broaden the interpretation of some sections of the bill.

Generally fair tonight and Friday; warmer Friday.

General Weather
Showers and thunder storms have occurred since yesterday morning over sections of the central plains, central Mississippi valley and over the Lake region and the northeastern states, with heavy rain falling over sections of Iowa, Missouri and Kansas. However, generally fair weather prevails this morning over all sections of the country except that it is cloudy and unsettled over the north central and northeastern states.

It is now cooler over the Lake region and the New England states, but elsewhere temperature changes have been slight.

Fair weather is expected in this section tonight and Friday, with rising temperature Friday.

Milk Prices to Farmer Unchanged During June

Milwaukee —(P)—Charles Dincen, secretary of the Milwaukee Cooperative Milk Producers, announced Thursday the prices paid to the farmer for milk in June in the Milwaukee area will remain at $2.71 a hundred pounds for bottling milk and $1.25 for milk used in manufactured products.

"The milk supply is smaller than usual for this time of the year," Dincen said. "We are at the period now when we should be in heavy production, but the late spring has retarded pastures and decreased the supply."

County Association Holds Dinner Meeting at Kaukauna

Peter Goerl of the First National bank was elected president of the Outagamie County Bankers association at a meeting held last night at Hotel Kaukauna, Kaukauna. He succeeds O. A. Hansen of the Outagamie State bank.

H. W. Olm, of the Farmers and Merchants bank, Kaukauna, was elected vice president to succeed John Vande Loo of the same bank, and Edward Mollen, Bank of Little Chute, was named secretary treasurer to succeed Jacob Hahn, Nichols.

The association voted to continue its studies of public relations for another year. A film, "Back of Banks and Business," released by the federal reserve bank of Minneapolis, was shown.

Ninety-four officers, directors and clerks of banks in the county attended the meeting which was preceded by a 6:30 dinner.

Fitzsimons Bill Again Defeated In State Assembly

Madison —(P)—Assemblyman Maurice Fitzsimons' bill to eliminate dual employment in the public service, chiefly by ousting married women workers, went down to defeat today for the third time.

The assembly followed the lead of the two previous legislatures and killed the measure, 45 to 42.

While the youthful Democratic sponsor from Fond du Lac claimed it would open up some 500 jobs to unemployed persons, two colleagues, Assemblymen Andrew J. Biemiller, Milwaukee, and Harry Bergren, Siren, both Progressives, said it would affect only 30 persons.

Labor spokesmen, including Assemblyman Emil Costello (P), Kenosha, charged the bill was discriminatory and pointed out that the state federation of labor opposed it.

Fitzsimons replied the reason the A. F. of L. was against it was because the federation employs married women in its offices.

Assemblyman Mark Catlin (R), Appleton, claimed the measure was "un-American" and penalized employees regardless of merit.

The bill had been amended to apply only to couples where both man and wife are employed in the public service. It allowed an exemption of $2,000 of income, plus $250 for each dependent.

Beg Pardon

Through an error, a story in yesterday's Post-Crescent on plans for Memorial day services in Appleton carried three paragraphs regarding the program which had no connection with the Appleton services. The references were to a G. A. R. and American Legion ritual and referred to a Waupaca program.

Building Permits

Two building permits were issued yesterday by the building inspection department. Permits were granted to Mrs. F. Veitenhans, 769 S. Locust street, remodel residence, $200; Edward Camphure and Son, 1904 N. Appleton street, residence and garage, $3,500.

Think Wisconsin To Consider Pay, Hour Legislation

Congressmen Voice Belief As Result of President's Message

Washington —(P)—Several members of Wisconsin's congressional delegation saw in President Roosevelt's message to congress on wages and hours an encouragement for Wisconsin to consider minimum wages and maximum hours for that state's intrastate industries just as the administration is pondering application of these principles to interstate commerce.

The president's message said in part:

"Although a goodly portion of the goods of American industry move in interstate commerce and will be covered by the legislation which we recommend, there are many purely local pursuits and services which no federal legislation can effectively cover."

"No state is justified in sitting idly by and expecting the federal government to meet state responsibility for those labor conditions with which the state may effectively deal without fear of un-neighborly competition from sister states. The proposed federal legislation should be a stimulus and not a hindrance to state action."

Temporary Agreement In Tigerton Dispute

Madison —(P)—Secretary J. K. Kyle of the state labor board announced 100 employees of the Tigerton Lumber Co., Tigerton, Wis., returned to work today under a temporary agreement ending a three-day strike.

Kyle said the company agreed to recognize the Sawmill Workers union, an A. F. of L. affiliate, and grant an increase of 10 cents an hour in wages. Kyle served as mediator in the dispute.

Urges Primary in Judicial Races

Turner Says Supreme Court Justiceship Major Political Position

Madison —(P)—Glenn Turner, Madison attorney who has been an unsuccessful candidate for supreme court justice four times, declared before the assembly elections committee yesterday that the justiceship "is the most important political position in the state."

He appeared at a hearing on a constitutional amendment by Assemblyman A. J. Biemiller (P), Milwaukee, which would provide for primary elections for positions on the court bench if there were more than two candidates.

Biemiller submitted vote totals to show that in three of the last six supreme court elections the winning candidate received less than a majority vote because three or more were running.

"There can be little argument about this plan," Biemiller said. "Either you are for majority rule or you aren't."

Turner repeated his declaration of the recent campaign that court rulings declaring laws unconstitutional are themselves unconstitutional. Both Turner and Biemiller, when questioned by committee members, asserted their belief in partisan judiciary elections. Turner said he believed a constitutional amendment was unnecessary and that the legislature under the constitution would provide primary elections for justices.

No one appeared in opposition to the proposal.

Board Will Decide on Material for Street

Members of the board of public works were to meet at 2 o'clock this afternoon to decide on the type of black top surfacing to be placed on College avenue. Several members of the board journeyed to Oshkosh yesterday afternoon to inspect black top streets. Construction of curb and gutter at the east end of College avenue, at Drew street, was started by a crew of WPA workmen yesterday.

The trick tulips are in bloom now and are a deep shade of purple.

Hearings on Phone Firm
Request Re-Opens June 11

Madison —(P)—Hearings on the Wisconsin Telephone company's request for permission to shift taxes of $301,906 onto local service customers in 95 exchanges will be resumed here June 11, the public service commission announced today.

The tax was part of a 1937 emergency levy of $682,644 assessed against the company to help finance delinquent state aids to counties for social securities purposes.

The company paid the tax April 15, but asked permission immediately to put a 4 1/2 per cent surcharge on local service bills to recover most of the levy.

"For the sake of those veterans still living and in memory of those who died on the field of battle, may I urge every person who can do so to help this cause by purchasing a Memorial poppy next Saturday," the governor said.

Music Copyright Bill Is Called Discriminatory

Cashman Measure Aimed At American Society Of Composers

(Post-Crescent Madison Bureau)

Madison —(P)—"Discriminatory and clearly unconstitutional" was the characterization given to Senator John E. Cashman's bill to impose a 25 per cent tax on receipts from licenses to render copyrighted music by a lone opponent of the measure, Eugene Saunders, Milwaukee representative of the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers, at a public hearing before the legislative finance committee this week.

Cashman's bill, which he said is aimed at "snoopers who harass tavernkeepers and dance hall proprietors" would levy a 25 per cent tax on the gross receipts of any person or corporation which charges taverns, dance halls or other keepers of public places for the rendition of copyrighted music, which Saunders said, would affect only the American Society, since it is the only agency in the field.

Cashman asked the finance committee to recommend it for passage because of the revenue it would produce, but Saunders protested vehemently, saying that the bill would defeat its own purpose by driving the society out of Wisconsin.

Saunders exclaimed that the courts would not uphold a "discriminatory tax" of 25 per cent, levied on gross receipts without any consideration for profits. Besides, he declared, the state is trespassing on a federal jurisdiction when it tampers with copyright privileges.

Calls Society "Racket"

Members of the finance committee were distinctly unsympathetic, however, and Senator Fred Risser, Madison, former Dane county district attorney, said bluntly that his experience has shown him that the American society is "a racket."

"Isn't your society just a little brainstorm of somebody to make money, to harass poor tavernkeepers, to assess fines and then to settle for a compromise?" he asked the speaker.

Saunders replied that the society is a voluntary membership organization, and maintained that 80 per cent of the revenues collected from licensing of dance halls and others for the playing of its music was returned to the original author and composer.

Saunders concluded with the assertion that copyrights are in interstate commerce and "you can't regulate that." Members of the committee, however, to judge from their remarks, distinctly favored Senator Cashman's proposal.

FWD Qualifies For 500-Mile Race

Clintonville Entry Clocked At 118.2 Miles an Hour At Indianapolis

Clocked at 118.2 miles an hour, the entry of the Four Wheel Drive Auto company of Clintonville qualified yesterday for the annual 500-mile race at Indianapolis Memorial Day. Tony Willman, Milwaukee, was driving with Jack Petty riding mechanic.

The qualifying speed was four miles an hour faster than last year's mark when Mauri Rose drove the car and placed fourth in the race and later won the national AAA racing championship. Another Wisconsin driver, Frank Brisko, qualified Sunday at 118.23 miles per hour.

Willman has 11 years of racing experience and drove an FWD car in 1934 with Brisko when the machine led the race for 300 miles and finished ninth when shock absorber trouble slowed down the machine.

Ban Heavy Trucks During Weekends And on Holidays

Portions of 17 Wisconsin Highways Affected by Commission's Order

MADISON.—The public service commission issued an order today requiring heavy trucks, except those carrying exempt products, to stay off portions of 17 Wisconsin highways on weekends and legal holidays during the summer.

The regulations will be effective from Saturday, May 29, to Sunday, Sept. 12, inclusive, between the hours of 1 to 11 o'clock p. m. on Saturday and 9 a. m. to midnight on Sunday and legal holidays.

Trucks exempt from the order are those of less than 6,000 pounds gross and those used to transport livestock, fluid milk or cream, fresh vegetables, fresh fruit, ice cream, fresh bakery goods, ice, newspapers or passengers only.

Similar regulations designed to enhance the pleasure and safety of tourists have been in effect annually since passage in 1933 of the motor transportation act.

Similar to Last Year's
"This year's order applies to portions of 17 highways and differs from that of last year by extending the restriction on Highways 12 and 18 so far north as Tomah, eliminating Walworth county Highways C, BB, and B, and barring from Highway 41 even trucks previously exempt except those of less than 6,000 pounds gross weight and wreckers," the commission said.

The commission ruled conditions of highway between Milwaukee and the Illinois line are such as to make it inadvisable to permit trucks of generally exempt classes from operating there during restricted hours.

"While Highway 41 has been widened for most of its distance between Milwaukee and the Illinois state line, there is a distance of some seven miles in Kenosha county where it is still of only two-lane width, and a heavy congestion of traffic will create an undue hazard at this location," the order stated.

Portions of highways affected are: 12, between Genoa City and Tomah and between Eau Claire and Menomonie; 13, between Madison and Wisconsin Dells; 14, between Illinois state line and Highway 11 and between Madison and Middleton; 15, between Elkhorn and junction with 12; 15, between Milwaukee and Tomah, between West Salem and La Crosse; 18, between Milwaukee and Madison; 19, between Milwaukee and Watertown; 20, between Beloit and Janesville; 20, between Ft. Atkinson and Watertown; 30, between Milwaukee and junction with 19.

Highway 41, between Illinois and DePere; 42, between Illinois state line and junction with 144 in Sheboygan county; 45, between junction with 55 in Milwaukee county and Fond du Lac; 50, between Delavan and Lake Geneva; 51, between Beloit and Janesville; 55, between Milwaukee and Kaukauna; 57, between Milwaukee and Kiel; and 141, between Milwaukee and Green Bay.

Financial Statement
Asked in Catlin Bill

MADISON.—The house Wednesday passed the bill of Assemblyman Joseph L. Barber, Wausau, substantially increasing the penalties for bank frauds to provide a minimum prison term of 10 years.

The bill was approved 66 to 13 and sent to the senate. Barber charged that some bank officials, convicted of misappropriating huge sums of money, have been let off with comparatively light sentences.

Under the proposed law the term for bank frauds would be 10 to 20 years. The present maximum is 20.

The house passed and sent to the senate the Catlin bill requiring the state government to publish a financial statement in the official state paper at the close of each fiscal year. The bill was amended to provide that the statement contain a balance sheet accounting of the condition of each fund together with an accounting of revenues.

Sauthoff Would Permit Grants, Loans To States Whose Prisons Market Goods

Washington.—Representative Harry Sauthoff, Madison, Wis., Wednesday framed an amendment to the $1,500,000,000 relief bill designed to permit federal grants or loans to states whose prisons market goods.

The relief measure stipulates no loans or grants under the works progress or public works administrations shall be made to states for penal institution projects if such institutions manufacture and market goods.

This would prevent Wisconsin and Minnesota from being eligible for federal aid in construction work of this nature because both state penitentiaries manufacture binder twine and Minnesota's prison also produced farm machinery.

Sauthoff's amendment would permit federal aid to states provided goods manufactured by convict labor was marketed only within the state where made.

John J. Hannan, president of the Wisconsin State Board of Control, informed Sauthoff that unless the change was made, farmers would be subjected to a hardship since binder twine sold in Wisconsin and made by convict labor "is a powerful influence in stabilizing and keeping at a reasonable figure the price of twine."

Hannan said the state has $621,387 worth of work on state institutions scheduled for which the federal government will contribute $280,000 in WPA funds. In addition, another $8,000,000 worth of work is contemplated for which the state hopes to obtain $1,330,000 in federal aid.

TIRES AND TUBES

MILLIONS SAY—THE BEST TIRE!

More people have bought Goodyear Tires than any other kind for 22 consecutive years—millions more—because they have found Goodyears best. Why not profit by their experience?

If you are puzzled by tire classifications and tire prices, here's a fact that will set you straight.

The nation's great fleet owners who watch operating expenses with a microscope, say from long experience, "The cheapest thing on your car is the best tires you can buy!"

And by that they mean Goodyear Tires, for their accurate records show that a full set of Goodyears costs only ONE-FIFTH as much per 100 miles as gasoline—one-fourth to one-half as much as other everyday expenses!

Mileage is the answer. The longer, tougher, safer mileage that millions have found is built into every Goodyear Tire.

Just choose your price class

Goodyear Tires are safer because they give you the greater grip of center traction... the quicker-stopping All-Weather type tread that protects you from skidding accidents... the surer blowout-protection of patented Supertwist Cord in every ply!

You can get this proven safety in Goodyear Tires of several different price classes... the price-difference depending on how much mileage you care to buy. Any Goodyear you select is the top-quality tire at its price—for all Goodyears are built to protect our good name!

Why not replace those dangerous old tires now with safe, long-wearing Goodyears—since they cost less than anything else on your car!

Circuit Court Room to Be Scene of Theater's Murder Play Tonight

"OLD TIMERS" around Appleton recall the few-and-far-between murder trials which have been held in this county and the crowds of spectators which thronged the court house at each session. Tonight and Friday night Outagamie county court house will be crowded with interested spectators for another "murder trial," this time, however, staged by the Little Theater of the Fox River Valley under the title, "Night of January 18."

All of the atmosphere of a real trial will be preserved, the various court attendants, witnesses, attorneys, stenographers and newspaper reporters gathering informally in the court room just before the trial begins, the usual courtroom procedure being followed throughout, and the jury, which will be drawn from the audience, retiring to the jury room at the conclusion of the testimony to deliberate on a verdict.

Several of the roles in "Night of January 18" are taken by veteran actors of the Little Theater, players who have appeared in previous productions and are well known to Little Theater audiences, but there will be many new faces in the cast tonight and Friday night. Gilbert K. Hill, Menasha, is directing the play which is his second piece of direction for the Little Theater, and will also appear in the role of Dr. Kirkland, medical examiner.

As the audience enters the courtroom tonight and tomorrow night, the names will be dropped into a box from which the jury will be drawn by the clerk of court just before the opening of the play. The jurors will come forward as their names are called, take their places in the jury box and be sworn, and will remain there for the duration of the trial, except for between-act intermissions when the bailiff will conduct them to the jury room.

APPLETON, WISCONSIN, THURSDAY, MAY 27, 1937

Nine Terrors Entered in State Track Tourney

Vinc Jones Given Fair Chance to Break Shot Record

Sellers Eyes First in 440-Yard Run, Bixby First in 100

NINE members of the Appleton High school track and field squad, at least one man in every event, will go to Madison Saturday for the state track and field meet, it has been announced by Coach Joseph Shields. The Terrors are entered in Class A.

Vinc Jones will lead the Appleton delegation for he is being looked upon as a probable record breaker in the shot. The big fellow's best toss in a meet was at Manitowish last Saturday and was 51 feet, 1 inch, an inch short of tying the record. He also will compete in the discus.

Jack Sellers and Howie Bixby will rate about second among the Terrors. Sellers will be aiming principally at 440-yard dash honors and Bixby at the 100 where he has been clocked in .1 second more than the record. Sellers also will show in the broad jump and Bixby in the 220-yard run.

Karl Bohnsack tied for second in the pole vault last year and hopes to at least repeat. He also is entered in the broad jump. Another second place winner last year was Ken Slattery in the high jump and he hopes the state meet incentive will haul him out of some rather indifferent performing to date.

Sadler in Dashes
Kay Rogers will be entered in the mile, Ralph Colvin in the half, Don Sadler in the dashes, Glen Bowers in the low hurdles, Slattery in the shot or discus. The team of Sadler, Bowers, Sellers and Bixby also will run in the half mile relay.

Neehan, Kaukauna, New London and Shawano High School performers will be entered in Class B events. Lambie of Kaukauna may accomplish something in the quarter mile run where he has been a consistent winner this year. However, the other Neehan, Kaukauna and New London boys may be overshadowed by Shawano which is the defending Class B champion.

In Class C Seymour will send a squad of about nine boys while Ellison, Marion and Kimberly also will be represented. The best performers probably are Foster, Seymour, in the mile run and Dawson, Brillion, in the half mile.

Class B and C contestants from this section and the events in which they qualified at the district meet are as follows:

CLASS B
100-yard dash—Heartl, Neehan; Peterson, Kaukauna.
440-yard dash—Lambie, Kaukauna; Clark and Meinhardt, New London.

COCHRANE CRITICALLY HURT WHEN HIT BY PITCHED BALL

This remarkable picture shows Mickey Cochrane, manager and catcher of the Detroit Tigers, as he dropped to the ground, his bat still in the air, after being struck in the right temple by a ball thrown by Irving "Bump" Hadley of the New York Yankees, in fifth inning of game at New York. At a hospital three physicians and surgeons sought to save the life of Cochrane who suffered a triple fracture of the skull and a mild cerebral concussion. Danger of infection of the sinuses caused added concern.

Johnny Rizzo Bats Out 37th Hit; May Tie League Record

COLUMBUS Outfielder Is Only Seven Clouts Short Of Association Mark

CHICAGO—It's about time to start taking seriously Johnny Rizzo's campaign to set a new American Association consecutive game hitting record.

The young Columbus outfielder slammed out two hits, a triple and a single last night to increase his straight game string to 37, only seven short of Eddie Marshall's league mark—and did it with Marshall.

Then a Milwaukee Brewer statwart, set the record in 1935.

Rizzo's clouts helped the Red Birds to a 4 to 3 victory over the Blues in 10 innings. The Blues belted Bill McGee, late of the St. Louis Cardinals, hard in the early innings, but could do nothing with his successor, Max Macon. John Niggeling held the Birds in check until the eighth when two runs tied the score, and was charged with the defeat when Enos Slaughter doubled to drive in Lynn King with the winning run in the extra inning.

Milwaukee's brewers continued to skid, dropping their fifth straight game, 7 to 6, to Toledo. Roy Colbren's homer off George Blaeholder in the ninth with a man on, provided the winning runs. Newell Kimball, turned over to the Brewers by the Chicago Cubs yesterday, made his first start and failed to last an inning, yielding six hits before Blaeholder took over.

Buck Marrow held St. Paul to five hits as Louisville defeated St. Paul, 8 to 2, for its fifth straight victory. Goodman Rosen led a 13-hit Colonel attack on Italo Chelini and Bill Cox with three singles. Indianapolis thumped Walter Tausher and Charley Wagner for 18 hits, three each by Ox Eckhardt and Dan Taylor, to nip Minneapolis, 11 to 10.

LEAVE FOR MEET

Milwaukee—Three members of the Marquette University track team left the city today for New York where they will compete in the annual I. C. A. A. championships tomorrow and Saturday. They were Edward Burke, high jumper, Ward Cuff, javelin thrower, and John Dye, discus thrower.

Australian Net Team Even Choices To Cop Davis Cup Matches Saturday

BY ALAN GOULD

NEW YORK—Australia's seasoned and hitherto favored tennis forces will be no better than an even choice against the United States in the Davis cup matches starting this Saturday at Forest Hills, unless they shake off sundry aches and pains during the next two days.

The Aussies rely largely upon greater international experience in the United States in the Davis cup, but the sensational singles form of California's Don Budge, coupled with the slow recovery of Adrian Quist, Anzac ace, from a mild attack of intestinal "flu" has altered the outlook.

The Americans may go to the post as favorites if Quist fails to shake off the ailment. He had a setback after being under a physician's care over the past week-end, expected to work out this afternoon for the first time in three days. The Australians had decided a week ago to assign the entire task to Quist and the veteran Jack Crawford, former world champion. Crawford gained the No. 2 singles berth after Vivian McGrath caught a bad cold in Mexico City and lost considerable weight.

Only an official announcement, due when the draw takes place Friday, is required to confirm Bryan "Bitty" Grant's selection for the No. 2 American singles job but it is no secret otherwise that all the U. S. hopes are wrapped up in the red-headed Budge.

The Californian looks "hot" enough now to capture his two singles matches and bid high for the deciding point with Gene Nako in the doubles. Grant, 125 pounds of energy and determination, is conceded no more than an outside chance to extend either Crawford or Quist.

Two singles matches are scheduled Saturday, starting at 1 p. m. (E. S. T.). The doubles match is booked for Sunday, with the concluding two singles contests to be played Monday.

New York—Attilio Sabatino 152, Puerto Rico, outpointed Frankie Blair, 150, Camden, N. J., (8).

Three of the six hits were knocked into the infield, with the runner beating the throw to the initial sack.

Emil Barbola Tosses Colonel Jack Reynolds And Wins Welter Title

BY LES BISELX

MENASHA—Wisconsin now has a wrestling champion in the person of Emil Barbola. Berlin, who defeated Colonel Jack Reynolds, welterweight champion of the world, and annexed the champions gold belt last night at the S. A. Cook armory. Reynolds has held the honor for 14 years.

Barbola took the first fall in 161 minutes with a body press and hammer lock and Reynolds knotted the count by taking the second fall with his famous leg split after 134 minutes of furious fighting.

When Reynolds began to realize that Barbola was a real match for him, he let go with everything in the book and tried repeatedly to apply the leg split which the Berlin boy repeatedly broke up the hold.

After breaking a series of leg splits, Barbola came back with a reverse toe hold a minute before the time limit to annex the third fall, the championship and the gold belt.

The new champion said, after the fight, that last night was the first time in 20 years of grunting that he had an opportunity to battle for any kind of championship and that he had prepared carefully to take every advantage of the opportunity. After the fight, an argument ensued as to the possession of the gold belt, Reynolds saying that Barbola was overweight. However, it was found that Barbola's weight was within the limit and he was given the belt.

As last night's card was the last of the season here, the pair will not be rematched this season unless a fight is arranged in some other city. Art Gutzman, promoter said this morning.

Dickie Gerber, South Bend, Ind., won the preliminary battle, from Scotty Williams, Louisville, Ky., in 12 minutes with a toe hold. The fight was fast and the winner in doubt until the application of the winning hold.

Louis Kodrick, Peshtigo, and Buzz Reynolds, Salt Lake City, Utah, battled to a draw in the semi-windup after an hour of tugging. Reynolds took the first fall in 16 minutes with a toe hold and Kodrick won the second in 14 minutes with a backbreaker. The remainder of the time, neither grunter had an advantage.

Ox Wilcox officiated for all fights. A record crowd saw the championship change hands.

Competition Will Be Keen in Events At Y. M. C. A. Pool

Interest Increases With Addition of Events for School Girls

JUNIOR High students from public and parochial schools will compete in the annual swimming championships to be held at 7:45 tonight at the Y. M. C. A. pool. Interest has been added to the meet this year with the addition of the girls events to the competition. It is expected that the event will attract more swimmers than any of the previous meets and that a number of the present records will be broken.

Roosevelt Junior High has captured most of the honors in recent tournaments and last year walked away with the seventh and ninth grade championships, with Wilson swimmers copping the eighth grade competition. It is expected with the increased list of entries this year that the competition will be keener and that the champions will be pressed to the limit to retain their titles.

The results of the 1936 meet show that the seventh grade championship was won by Roosevelt swimmers, with Wilson second and McKinley third. The eighth grade championship was taken by Wilson, with St. Mary's and Roosevelt tied for second and St. Therese third. The ninth grade title was taken by Roosevelt with Wilson second and St. Joseph third. Entries are expected tonight from Roosevelt, McKinley, Wilson, St. Joseph, St. Therese and St. Mary's schools.

George Klein, chairman of the Y bath department, is general chairman in charge of the meet. He will be assisted by William Stark, Howard Ruth, Morgan Holmes, Al Woehler, Junior Kapp and George Stewart.

The list of events includes:
Boys
7th Grade—20-yard free style, 20-yard breast stroke, 20-yard back stroke and 60-yard relay.
8th Grade—20-yard free style, 20-yard breast stroke, 20-yard back stroke, 40-yard free style, fancy diving and 60-yard relay.

Girls
20-yard breast stroke, 20-yard back stroke, 40-yard free style, 20-yard breast stroke, 20-yard back stroke, fancy diving and 60-yard relay.

Ben Peck, formerly with the Little Chute American Legion club, has been released to the Electric Brewers and will catch for the Kaukauna club the rest of the season.

Petcka or Kelly may start on the mound if Sonny Carbenauz, a Michigan hurler, is not available for the night games. Manager Bowers will probably show Eggert, at first; Van Drasek, at second; Powell, at short and Zelinski at third base, with Bowers, Kelly and Vils in the outfield.

Night Baseball to Open at Kaukauna

Green Bay Green Sox Invade Brewers' Park for Northern State Game

Kaukauna—Night baseball will be opened here next Monday night when the Green Bay Green Sox invade the Kaukauna park for a Northern State league tilt. The same will be started at 8 o'clock and will mark the first appearance of the downriver lads at the Kaukauna ball park this season. With the addition of several new players, Manager Bowers expects to have his squad at full strength for the Bays' invasion.

16 Golfers Remain In Pro Meet; Some Favorites Beaten

15 "Name" Players and Silent Foulis Still in Pittsburgh Tourney

BY DILLON GRAHAM
PITTSBURGH — (AP) — Fifteen "name" players and Silent Foulis still remain in the Professional Golfer's championship today.

But Jim, least known of the survivors of "Black Wednesday" two 18-hole rounds, was the only one who could trace his ancestry back to the very cradle of golf.

Jim's father and grandpappy learned to loft masher-club shots while working in Tom Morris' pro shop at old St. Andrews. And so did his uncle, Jimmie, who came over from Scotland on a sailing ship away back in '83, and won the U. S. National Open championship in 1896.

Profound upstarts wheeled the proud names of Sarazen, Tommy Armour and Johnny Revolta out of the championship yesterday.

Favorites Remain in Event
In a day of shine and shade and drenching rain, of faltering starts and heroic finishes, most of the real favorites remained in the fight.

Of the 16 men who will play in the 26 hole third round tomorrow, 12 are members of the United States Ryder Cup squad.

These 12 are: Defending Champion Denny Shute, Boston; Ed Dudley, Philadelphia; Paul Runyan, White Plains, N. Y.; Jimmy Hines, Garden City, N. Y.; Vic Ghezzi, Deal, N. J.; Open Champion Tony Manero, Peabody, Mass.; Byron Nelson, Medalist from Reading, Pa.; Ky Laffoon and Horton Smith, Chicago; Harry McSpaden, Winchester, Mass.; Henry Ford, Honesdale, Pa.; and Sam Snead, White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.

The other four are Harry Cooper and Foulis, Jimmy Thomson, Shawnee-On-Delaware, Pa., and Johnny Farrell, Short Hills, N. J., and these boys would perhaps the most dramatic story of the day.

Foulis Beat Sarazen
Nephew and namesake of the winner of the 1896 National open championship, Slim Jim Foulis took care of Sarazen. Unnoticed by the crowd which bothered Sarazen for his autograph, Foulis won the third hole of their second round match and Gene never got that one back.

Two up at the turn and only one putt after the 15th, Foulis really won the match at the 25-yard 14th where he rammed down a 20 foot putt for a deuce. After winning the 17th, Sarazen had a chance to square the match by sinking a six-foot putt on the 18th green, but he hit the ball a foot short and retired in high rage to the clubhouse.

Cooper disposed of Revolta in one of the wildest matches of the season. Big Johnny rushing up to his ball like a prize fighter coming out of his corner, was two down at the turn, and one up standing the 17th tee. He scrambled all over the 17th and finally knocked in an 18 foot putt for a four, but Cooper rammed a spade shot five feet from the cup and sank the putt for a birdie that squared the match.

On the 18th, Revolta misjudged his second shot and a rough hit in 12 yards over the green cost him the hole and the match, to Cooper's par four.

Kaukauna Nine to Meet Little Chute
Electric City Brewers Meet Legion Squad in Northern State Game

Little Chute—Rivalry as old as the hills will be renewed here Sunday when the Electric City Brewers invade the Little Chute park in a Northern State league game with the American Legion club. A record crowd is expected to witness the first clash of the two clubs this season. Fans from the entire valley are expected to see the tilt which will be held at the municipal park.

Manager Bowers of the Kaukauna club has indicated his lineup will show Vils, Kelly and Bowers in the outfield, with Egert at first, Van Drasek at second, Powell in short and Zelinski at third base. Peck, who originally performed with the Little Chute club, but who was released, is expected to pitch. Eddie Helms, fractured his leg while receiving Arnie Kelly or Joe Petka may hurl for the Brewers.

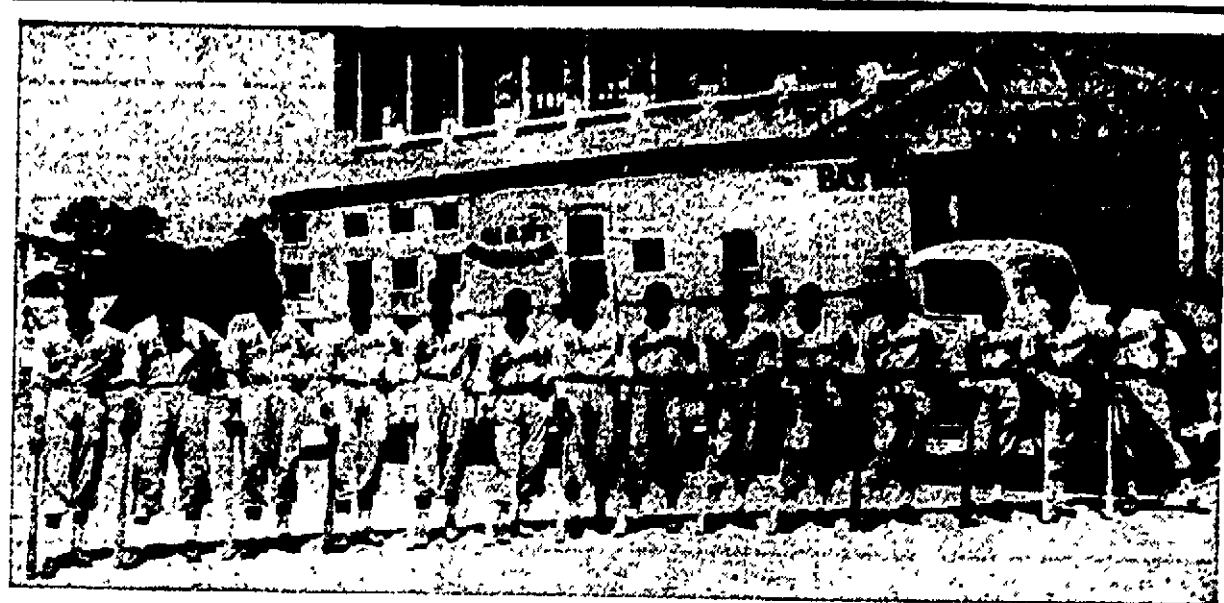

With 15 players in suits, the Little Chute manager will have plenty of strength to offer the invaders no matter what turns up. Dick Weisberger is expected to pitch, with Lamers receiving. The rest of the starting lineup probably will show Peotter, at first base; Heide Eiler, second; Bowers, in short; Egert, at third, and Walsberg, Gullickson and Lucasen in the field. Others who probably will show are Pete Walsberg, a fielder; Bob Lamers and Eddie Schuler, pitchers; Jack Strick, H. Van Dyke and N. Jansen, fielders.

Green Bay East Gets New Basketball Coach
Green Bay — George R. Berg, for the past three years assistant coach at East high school, will coach the East varsity basketball team next season, Superintendent of Schools George E. Deuman has announced.

Athletic Director Tom Hearden, who coached the Red Devils last winter, will continue as football and track mentor, but Berg will be in full charge of basketball.

He has been of great assistance in conducting the intra-mural program and has assisted Hearden during the past year in football and track. He is well groomed in basketball fundamentals, is very popular with the athletes and is regarded as an excellent choice for his position.

Berg's appointment follows by a week the naming of F. L. Ferracane as basketball coach at West high school.

COLORED BASEBALL TEAM WILL PLAY AT NEW LONDON

NEW LONDON—A classy brand of baseball mixed with an evening of song and fun is scheduled for fans next Monday evening when the New London Knapsack team will entertain the Giant Negro baseball club, which has made the team as popular as their baseball prowess in the seven years of the club's existence. The Knapsack management has announced there will be no increase in admission price for the special attraction.

The colored squad travels in a huge motor bus which accommodates the entire group with sleeping and living quarters. Its manager, "Ducky" Payne, has been connected with baseball in Piney Woods for over 11 years and remains the ever-guiding pilot of the club. He plays in the outfield and is an experienced hitter, even taking the mound on occasion.

The Giants carry a retinue of famous pitchers, but the exact line-up has not been announced. Curt Hollingsworth holds a record of losing only two games for the club last year and has many offers to join professional clubs as soon as he graduates. Willie "General" Grant is one of the few underhand pitchers in baseball. "Lefty" Thompson also is considered formidable on the mound.

The Browns will be working out Wednesday and Friday evening this week in preparation for Monday's game and will get a warming-up Sunday afternoon when they meet Waupaca in a Wolf Valley league game at Waupaca.

SEE RECORD DELEGATION
Madison — When Iowa invades Madison next fall for its football game with Wisconsin, Oct. 16, a record delegation will accompany the Hawkeye team. It will be headed by the Iowa band of 120 pieces, the drum and bugle corps of 50 members, including a bagpipe unit of six kilts Scotchmen, the crack Pershing Rifles and Pontoniers, color bearers, color guards, cheerleaders — and Rex III, the Great Dane mascot.

Coach Lowell "Fuzzy" Douglas says the Badgers' last work-out of 1937 in games against Coach Art Manfield's crew, the hopefull Tuesday and Wednesday, Douglas was undecided on how he would use his pitchers in the weekend games. He wants to win as many as possible but is also thinking about next year and may start Bob Hennrich and Irvin "Lefty" Doucena, both sophomores, to give them needed experience. If he does not do this, he will pitch John Harriott against Northwestern, Friday, and Walter Zuehlke against Notre Dame, Saturday. All the Badgers are in good condition and anxious to redeem themselves for the two Illinois defeats.

Invite Ball Players to First Practice Saturday
All boys interested in playing baseball this summer with the American Legion junior squad or with a Ward League to be organized under the direction of Charles Pond, have been invited to the first practice at the Third ward field at 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Manager Pond said that the Ward League will play a schedule of games during the summer months and that the pick of the league will be used to represent the American Legion in junior baseball competition.

Berg's appointment follows by a week the naming of F. L. Ferracane as basketball coach at West high school.

Yankees Begin To Show Power In Junior Loop

Race in American Circuit Again Taking on New York Aspect

BY SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer
It seems the American league was only fooling after all.

For a while there, the junior circuit looked as though it was going to steal the National league's stuff and put on a race as close as one and two.

But the untimely and unfortunate accident to Mickey Cochrane and the big stick as now wielded by the New York Yankees' murderers' row make it appear that things are pointing toward somewhat of a repetition of last summer's wait for Gehrig and Company.

Certainly Detroit's pennant possibilities, as good as any team's a week ago, have come close to being washed up as the week's laundry since Cochrane stopped that accidental dance ball of Bump Hadley's two days ago.

And now, with the Yankees definitely over their worst slump in two years, and widening their American league lead daily in recent days, the rest of the circuit probably will have to call out the national guard to stop the swat squad from repeating the slaughter.

Just as suddenly as they landed in their slump at the start of the season, after a socking spring exhibition trip, the Yanks have snapped out of it in the past week. They now boast a winning streak of six straight, which they stretched to that size yesterday by blanking the Cochrane-less Tigers 7-0.

Bang Out 81 Hits
In their last six games, which mark the beginning of their return to belting power, they have banged out 81 hits for 50 runs. At the same time, their own "big five" fingers have allowed less than two runs per game to the opposition.

Cleveland's Indians rallied with a four-run spree in the ninth to top the mystifying Philadelphia Athletics 8-6, a victory which shot the Tribe from fourth to second and lowered the A's to third. Featuring the battle were pinch homers by Bruce Campbell and Billy Sullivan.

On a western rampage, New York's Giants banged up on Al Hollingsworth in the first five innings to beat the Reds 6-3 and pull up to a game and a half off the National league pace set by the Pittsburgh Pirates, whose tilt with the Dodgers was rained out. The Cardinals held onto third place with a 6-4 win over the Boston Bees on the strength of Johnny Mize's three-run homer in the ninth.

Lefty LaMater, the Phillies' pitching find, fanned ten and handcuffed the Chicago Cubs with three hits for a 6-1 win, his fourth of the year.

The Chicago White Sox rallied for three runs in the ninth and notched out the Senators 6-5. The Boston Red Sox finished on top 11-9 in a knock-down, drag-out brawl with the Browns.

Telephone, Not Fist, Gave Van Mungo That Shiner
BY EDDIE BRIETZ
NEW YORK — (AP) — George Coffman, Detroit Tiger rookie who made his major league debut by trimming Lefty Grove the other day and then was knocked out by the Yankees yesterday, is named George Richard. His brother, who tosses for the Giants, is named Richard George. Inside story is that Van Mungo's eye was bashed by a telephone and not Jimmy Bucher's fist. Remarkable how this hotel furniture has a habit of popping up and tagging a guy. Attention scouts: Randy Hefflin, 18-year-old right hander who has just pitched Fredericksburg (Va.) high to its first state title, struck out 95 batters in 52 innings, yielded only 18 hits and two earned runs. They say he would have done even better, but none of the catchers could hold him down.

John Walter of the Press-Gazette says:

"A certain Valley conference track star has been making several enemies this season by unsportsmanlike conduct during meets, in which he attempted to rattle the opposition. . . you wouldn't stand and talk to a man who was about to putt, now would you?"

To which we answer—We thought that jockeying and ribbing opponents before track and field events was rather common, just as cracks in basketball and in football. Certainly the language in football isn't the best English. . . And we know more golfers to kid opponents all over the course than we do who stand mute on the greens or on the tee.

George R. Berg has been named Green Bay East basketball coach for next year relieving Tom Hearden of the job. Tom wasn't keen about basketball and confided once last winter he hoped to get out of the job and be able to concentrate on football and track. With Berg East and Ferracane at West both Green Bay schools have new cage coaches to master-mind with the present setup.

Lawrence tracksters of the present squad and several past squads can claim 9 of the 15 records in state collegiate track. And incidentally, notice that for Appleton men, Sam Leslie, Evan Vande Walle, Frank Schubert and Junior Kapp, and Kobals scored three runs in the third inning and Harrimans counted twice in the third, but the Taverns scored nine runs in the fifth and sixth innings to put the game on ice.

Only three of the league leader's runs were earned and the Harriman squad had two earned scores. Keller walked 13 men in four and one-third innings and five of these came in the fifth frame. Keller also walked in one of the seven runs in the fifth inning.

K. Buesing led the Kobal attack, tapping out two hits in three trips to the plate and scoring twice. Stegert also scored two runs for the winners.

American Golfers Still in Tourney
John Levinson, Leading U. S. Challenger, Is Eliminated From Meet

Sandwich, Eng.—(AP) — Dick Chapman of Greenwich, Conn., Wilford Wehrle of Racine, Wis., and Robert Sweeney of New York and London qualified today for the fifth round of the British Amateur Golf championship but John O. Levinson, one of the leading American challengers, was eliminated.

Chapman advanced easily into the next round, to be played this afternoon, by wallowing Stanley Morrison of Great Britain, 4 and 2, but the other two American survivors just made the grade. Wehrle defeated A. J. Evans of Great Britain, one up, and Sweeney had to go to the 19th to win by the same margin from Bromley Davenport.

Levinson, Chicagoan who holds the New England Amateur championship, was soundly beaten by J. F. Pennick, English amateur king, 5 and 4.

Wehrle's match with Evans had an unfortunate ending. As Evans started to address his ball on the 18th green, it moved slightly without being touched. Evans immediately called to Wehrle and told him what had happened. The referee promptly called it a stroke against him, giving him a five against the American's winning four.

Through the 13th hole it appeared that Wehrle was headed for an easy victory but his game fell apart and Evans, a veteran cricketer, grabbed the next three holes with sparkling golf to square the match. The 17th was halved but the Briton then got that costly break at the home hole to bow out of the tourney.

IT'S ODD But It's Science

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Editor

Newburgh, N. Y.—Wesley Wait, Newburgh dentist, whose hobby is science, predicts the proposed sea level ship canal in Florida would change the course of the Gulf stream.

It would be diverted across Florida in proportion to the canal's volume, he thinks, and there's a good chance it would make all the Gulf states warmer, give Florida Cuba's climate, and displace the Arctic shore current all the way up to Maine.

He foresees the southern United States raising coffee and tropical crops, and the eastern seaboard made "20 to 30 degrees warmer."

He has sent his comments to President Roosevelt.

Milk Regulation
Bill Is Held Up

Rohan Will Await Administration Plans on Present Law

(Post-Crescent Madison Bureau)
Madison—Assemblyman William Rohan, (D), Kaukauna, said yesterday that he will not attempt to bring his bill to remove the power of the state department of markets to regulate fluid milk distribution in fourth class cities and villages to the floor until it becomes apparent that the administration plans to continue the law which bestows this power on the department and which will expire with the end of the current fiscal year.

Rohan's bill, introduced in the first days of the session last January, would strike out all cities under 10,000 and all towns and villages from the jurisdiction of the agriculture and markets department in its regulation of milk sales. The present department's rulings on retail milk price in his home city of Kaukauna, Rohan said when he introduced the bill, has resulted in a 50 per cent drop in consumption, and milk dealers who formerly sold their entire output to retail customers at a low price, are now selling half of their product to cheese factories for lack of a market at the present higher price.

Claims Deficiency Judgments are Rare

(Post-Crescent Madison Bureau)
Madison—Deficiency judgments in the foreclosure of real estate mortgages are so rare in Outagamie county as to be almost nonexistent, Assemblyman Mark Catlin Jr., Appleton, declared on the assembly floor Wednesday in opposing a bill to prohibit such judgments.

Catlin's efforts to defeat the bill failed, however, when the house voted to repeal a statute which authorizes such procedure.

Consider Farm, Home Problems At State Meet

Plan for Annual Field Day
At State University

(Post-Crescent Madison Bureau)
Madison—Delegations of farmers, homemakers, short course alumni, extension workers and teachers of vocational agriculture will meet on the campus of the University of Wisconsin June 5 to review latest information dealing with farm and home problems.

Field day visitors will be entertained during the conference with a half hour concert by the university student band, and they will hear address by F. O. Holt, dean of the extension division, and Chris L. Christensen, dean of the agricultural college.

Meeting with the homemakers on their program will be John Stewart Curry, new artist in residence at the university, who will speak on rural art. On the women's program will also be a style show of home made wearing apparel and various demonstrations, including those on high vitamin diets.

Housed in the university stock pavilion will be more than 25 exhibits and demonstrations dealing with recent information and methods of particular value to farmers. Says Varicose Veins Can Be Reduced At Home

PROVE IT AT SMALL COST.

If you or any relative or friend is worried because of varicose veins, or bunches, as good advice for home treatment as any friend can give, is to get a prescription known as Moore's Emerald Oil.

Simply visit your drug store or your druggist for an original bottle of Moore's Emerald Oil and apply liberally and morning and night, enlarged veins. Soon you should notice that they are growing smaller and the treatment should be continued until the veins are no longer burdensome. So penetrating and powerful is Emerald Oil that it helps simple swellings due to strain to disappear.

Hollywood News And Gossip

BY CHARLES RUGGLES
(Guest Columnist For Robbins Coons)

Hollywood — Here I am, a newspaper man again, and a bit stiff at times too.

But I think I'm going to surprise those who see this new picture because in it I'm an old, sedate newspaper man, not a fresh young twerp of the type I was in "Gentlemen of the Press," the production in which I made my palpitating bow to moviegoers ten years ago.

In other words, I'm out of character—in "Exclusive"—somewhat definitely. After seven newspaper roles I'm doing something different. To give you an idea, if you care, I'm the father of Frances Farmer, and pretty well along in years. Not only that, but I'm a veteran of about 25 years of pencil-pushing and typewriter-socking.

As Frances says to me, in the screen play, "You've got enough nerve to make an axe-murderer hold it for a picture, and you'd risk your neck for a two-cent scoop!"

But let's get on with it. Here's the big news, to me at least:

I go dramatic for the first time in my screen career. Everybody thinks I'm a comic. But lurking back somewhere in the Ruggles make-up is a pronounced tragic streak. (Oh, I know about comedians and Hamlet—don't tell me.)

You think I'm kidding? I played several roles on the stage in which I was a pretty serious guy. I was a bullwhacker once, and I got good notices because I took my role seriously.

Before this picture started, Producer Benjamin Glazer, Director Alexander Hall and I went into conference. We decided it was time I got a role with a lot of raw meat in it. This is it. When two news papers get into a war and I'm on one of them, I'm bound to be serious. When I have Frances Farmer for a daughter and Fred MacMurray for a prospective son-in-law, I really have something to worry about.

In the first three reels of the picture I'm just an amiable old soak trying to hold my job. But underneath my sudden exterior I have principles. When my daughter goes to work for a "yellow" rival sheet, I take it seriously.

When she writes a story that

There is something about dying in a picture that makes a part absolutely foolproof. So if the audience doesn't disqualify me in the first part of the picture I'm counting on being "tremendous" in the last half.

Firestone TIRES

GIVE YOU GREATER PROTECTION AGAINST SKIDDING AND BLOWOUTS

YOU will know the minute you see this tire why car owners everywhere call it the greatest tire ever made to sell at these low prices. The deeper, wider, flatter non-skid tread made of tough, long wearing rubber will give you dependable service and protection against dangerous skidding.

But tires cannot be judged on tread alone. Under the tread of Firestone Standard Tires are two extra layers of Gum-Dipped cords. This Firestone patented construction feature binds the tread and cord body into one inseparable unit, provides greater strength and guards against punctures. Now examine the body of the tire. Every cotton fiber in every cord in every ply is saturated and coated with pure liquid rubber which counteracts the internal friction and heat that ordinarily destroy tire life. This Firestone patented process of Gum-Dipping makes the tire stronger — gives greater protection against blowouts and is used only in Firestone Tires.

Don't risk your life on thin, worn tires when you can have new tires with all these extra values at such low cost. Come in and join the Firestone Save A Life Campaign today by equipping your car with a set of new Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires.

DON'T RISK YOUR LIFE ON THIN WORN TIRES

Decoration Day Services to be Held on Sunday

Afternoon Ceremony Planned for Kaukauna's War Dead

Kaukauna—Decoration day services on Sunday, which will be in charge of the American Legion, were outlined yesterday by Joseph Promer who was appointed by the post to take charge. His assistant is Otto Busse.

The firing squad will leave the Legion hall at 2:30 in the afternoon and visit six cemeteries where three volleys will be fired in salute, the names of all soldiers buried there read aloud, and taps sounded. The cemeteries to be visited are Holy Cross, Kelso, Trinity Lutheran, St. Mary's, Union, and St. Francis at Hollandtown.

Returning to the Legion hall about 4:30, the men will then line up for the parade which will start about 5 o'clock and in which the following units will march: color bearers, firing squad, Sons of American Legion and drum and bugle corps, all ex-service members of the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars, American Legion Auxiliary and Women's Relief Corps, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Kaukauna High school band.

The parade will proceed to Monument Square where the day's principal service will be held. Assembly will be sounded by a bugler, the band will play several selections, the Rev. John Scheib will deliver invocation, and the Auxiliary and Women's Relief Corps will hold memorial services.

The Rev. Scheib will then deliver the Memorial Day address and has chosen as his subject, "The Ideals of Abraham Lincoln."

Following a selection by the drum and bugle corps, the crowd will stand in silent tribute to the dead soldiers, a salute to the dead will be fired, taps sounded, and colors lowered. The parade will then move to Lave street bridge where services honoring dead sailors will be held. The Women's Relief Corps, Auxiliary, and firing squad will take part in these observances.

Lowering of the colors back at the Legion hall will end the Decoration Day services.

2 Enter Kaukauna Mayoralty Race

William J. Ganter, Louis J. Nelson Take Out Papers

Kaukauna—William J. Ganter, 133 East Second street, and Louis F. Nelson, 802 Metoxen avenue, yesterday took out nomination papers for the office of mayor.

The entrance of at least two candidates into the field to oppose Mayor John Niesen means that a primary must be held two weeks before the recall election which the council this week ordered to be held July 8.

Nomination papers must be returned to City Clerk Lester Brenzel by June 8, a month before the election. Mayor Niesen is automatically a candidate.

Seek Life Guards for Kaukauna's 3 Pools

Kaukauna—Young men who wish to apply for positions as life guards during the summer recreational program will meet at 9 o'clock tonight in the council chambers of the municipal building. The meeting will be in charge of Clifford Kemp, recreational director, to whom applicants must be directed.

A corps of three or four life guards will be hired this summer to watch over the three swimming places in the city. Reichel's ice pond, Kaukauna quarry, and the fourth lock. They will hold their jobs during the months of June, July, and August.

An educational meeting at which life-saving methods will be explained and demonstrated will be held in the council chambers Friday night.

The Kaukauna office of the Appleton Post-Crescent is located in the Jules Mertes barbershop on Wisconsin avenue. Don Anderson is the correspondent in charge and the telephone number is 107. Subscribers may call this number until 6:30 in the evening if their papers were not delivered.

Gantter Enters Race for Mayor's Job at Kaukauna

Kaukauna—Nomination papers for William G. Gantter, 135 Second street, to oppose Mayor John H. Niesen in the recall election July 8, were issued late Tuesday.

Unless he resigns, Mayor Niesen is automatically a candidate and Gantter is the only opposing aspirant for whom nomination papers have been issued so far. The papers must be filed with Lester Brenzel, city clerk, June 8.

If more than one candidate opposes Niesen for the office, a primary election will be held two weeks prior to the final election July 8.

BY QUINTON JAMES

Liberia, the country that has contributed probably more varieties than any other to animal-stamp collectors, has issued a new set of candidates for the philatelic zoo. Five denominations bear animal or bird pictures, while the sixth, a 6-cent green and black value, carries the portrait of President Edwin J. Barclay.

All six are bi-colored triangles, with the centers and values in black, the frames in various colors. Besides the familiar star of Liberia, the bottom strip of the frame has an elephant in outline at either end. The five lowest denominations and designs are:

One-cent green and black, horn-bill; 2-cent rose and black, bongo (a large, reddish, white-striped forest antelope); 3-cent lilac and black, west African buffalo; 4-cent orange and black, hippopotamus; 5-cent blue and black, bird of the crane family.

Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia have each issued new sets to raise funds for child welfare.

The three Czech stamps follow the movie motif, that is, the two lower values have a closeup of part of the design on the highest denomination. A mother, placing her sleeping child in a cradle, appears on the 50-haler plus 50-h green and the 1-korona plus 1-k red violet. The full design, which includes a kneeling father playing a violin, is on the 2-k plus 1-k blue.

The Yugoslav set of four stamps uses a single design—profile portraits of 8-year-old Prince Andrej and 9-year-old Prince Tomislav. Denominations, plus surtax, are: 25-paras plus 25-p brown; 75-p plus 75-p blue; 1.50-dinars plus 1-d red; 2-d plus 1-d red violet.

Czechoslovakia has also produced a new set of nine imperforate newspaper stamps. The values run from 2 halero to 1 korona, alike except for color and value numeral.

A dove bearing a twig is outlined in the center of the design.

The patron saint of Lima—Santa Rosa—is pictured in a special 2-centavo stamp from Peru.

Four values have been added to Poland's set showing some of that nation's architectural gems. This set began appearing in 1935. The new values are 5, 10, 15 and 20 groszy.

Netherlands Indies is backing up the homeland publicity for the fifth world Jamboree of Boy Scouts with two stamps—a 74-c dark brown and 124-c deep red. Netherlands previously issued three stamps to call attention to this Jamboree which will be held July 29 to August 13 at Vogelzang (Bird's Song). Bloemendaal. That's near Haarlem.

Fire-Fighting Laws to Be Enforced, Warning

Kimberly—State laws prohibiting interference by motorist with fire-fighting activities and equipment will be strictly enforced in Kimberly, and a county motorcycle officer will assist in enforcing the law, Chief of Police John Bernardy has announced.

The warning refers particularly to motorists following an emergency vehicle, parking in the driveway of a fire station and parking in front of hydrants. Chief Bernardy said that the next time there is a fire in the village, the county sheriff's office will be notified and will send out a motorcycle officer.

Parking is prohibited within 15 feet of a driveway entrance to a fire station or directly across the highway from such entrance, and within 10 feet of a fire hydrant, unless a greater distance is indicated by an official sign.

Please Drive Carefully

Man Doomed, but He Regains Health In a 'Caninobile'

Albuquerque, N. M. —(AP)—Karl Lindauer saved his life with his "caninobile," a dog-drawn home on wheels.

When physicians in Asheville,

N. C., in 1931 gave him only a year to live, Lindauer decided to seek health on the highways of the southwest.

He set out in a coaster-type wagon pulled by two dogs. Now he has a four-wheeled, rubber-tired vehicle with 20 dogs. Six of them draw the "caninobile" while the others ride behind, awaiting their turn to be hitched.

For the last five years Lindauer has traveled in the national forests of Arizona and New Mexico. Today, at 45, he is tanned and robust. He wouldn't trade his quaint vehicle for the most luxurious automobile trailer.

"We travel as much as 18 miles a day," he says. "It isn't as bad as other people go, but maybe I'll live longer than a lot of them."

Fire Protection Is Being Sought For Vandenberg

Little Chute Village Board Considers Town's Problem

Little Chute—At a special meeting of the village board Tuesday evening the members of the town board of Vandenberg were present to discuss fire protection for their township. Allen C. Cain, local attorney, was instructed by the Little Chute board to get an opinion on whether the village fire department is permitted, under the state law, to go outside the village limits for fire calls having but one fire truck to protect the village of Little Chute. An opinion will be given at the next regular meeting and it is thought an agreement of some kind will be made at that meeting.

Fire Chief Gregory Lenz told the board how protection is handled in other townships. The chairman of the ordinance committee was instructed to draw up an ordinance that no outside literature is to be circulated in the village without a permit from the town of police. The clerk was instructed to post weed notices in various places in the village and also to advertise in the Appleton Post-Crescent.

Village President John Vandenberg appointed John D. Weyenberg weed commissioner for the year. All tavern keepers are asked to file their applications for licenses for the fiscal year of this year. All liquor and cigarette licenses must be mailed to the village clerk before June 10.

Milk dealers who deliver milk in the village of Little Chute, regardless of the amount, must also have their licenses before the same date. No dealers will be permitted to deliver milk unless their license has been paid.

The financial reports of the village have been printed and distributed to the taxpayers. Those who did not receive one may have one on request. Henry Dercks is chairman of the finance committee and has several available copies. The report consists of a statement of receipts and disbursements for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1937, as audited by Carl J. Becker, C. P. A. accountant.

The trees which were sold property owners have been planted and payments are to be made to the village treasurer within the next 30 days. The new Chevrolet truck which was bought recently from the Vandenberg Brothers of this village has been delivered and is now in use by the street and police department. The streets are now being graveled and will also be oiled within the next few days. Some of the equipment of the county for oiling the roads will be available by Friday.

The next regular meeting of the village board will be held Tuesday evening, June 1. Bills will be checked by the finance committee at that meeting. Business places are expected to send in their bills every 30 days so there will be no delay in the checking and payment.

Herman Janssen has opened a music studio in the Stephen M. Peeters building on Main street.

HELP KIDNEYS PASS 3 LBS. A DAY

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and expel waste. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows that there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the cause of nervous headache, rheumatic pains, lumbago, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, irritability, nervousness, puffiness under the eyes, bradycardia and dizziness. Don't wait! Ask your doctor for Doan's Kidney Pills. Sufferers by millions are over 40 years. Council Votes Unanimously To Drop Ouster Proceedings

Clintonville—Formal withdrawal of the ouster proceedings against Dr. Robert Fischer, city treasurer here for the last 25 years, was effected by a unanimous vote of the aldermen at an adjourned meeting of the city council Tuesday evening. The public hearing on the ouster suit, scheduled for Monday evening, was not held following the withdrawal of the complaint at 9 o'clock that afternoon by Mrs. Edith Washburn, who filed charges against the city treasurer on April 22.

Considerable time was spent in discussing matters pertaining to the fiftieth anniversary celebration here on July 3, 4 and 5. Aldermen appropriated the sum of $400 for fireworks and $150 for the rental of street decorations to be used during the three-day festival. Additional decorations will be purchased or rented by the various business firms in the business section of the city. Committee meetings are being held this week by the various groups recently appointed by Max Slieg, general chairman of the event.

Other business discussed at the council meeting were matters relative to the sewage disposal plant now under construction as PWA project, and the question of payment of a relief bill of $2,700 extending over a period of years for the Henry Anderson family at Milwaukee. The Andersons moved there from Clintonville and have at various times since 1929 received relief from Milwaukee county. The case will be heard before the industrial commission at Milwaukee at 8:30 Saturday morning, May 29. Mrs. A. B. Roberts, relief worker for this city, and the city attorney, C. C. Mullarkey, will represent Clintonville at the hearing.

A daughter was born at Appleton to Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Nagreen.

Scot Neckerchiefs To Serve as Passport

The colorful neckerchiefs Boy Scouts wear and which are useful in emergencies, particularly in first aid work, will have an unusual meaning at the national jamboree at Washington, D. C. June 30-July 9. Upon checking in at the jamboree, each of the 25,000 scouts and leaders will be given two special neckerchiefs. A red one will be worn while the boys are at the 350-acre jamboree camp and a blue one will be worn when they leave the grounds. As both neckerchiefs bear the official jamboree insignia, the Washington monument in the center of a compass, they will serve as a valuable passport and identification mark of a jamboree participant.

MURDER ON THE BLUFF

SYNOPSIS: My roommate Michael has two aunts who invite us (I'm Jim Wells) to Farrington Bluff for a February weekend. Gay Palmer, Mike's red-headed heart interest, goes along. The Skipper, tall and square, looks worried and ill, while Martha Farrington, the small, stout, Victorian aunt, seems unchanged. Another guest, smooth Jude Blinshop, is an old flame of mine. After a dismal dinner, a constrained atmosphere settles upon the party. On the way to the game-room, Jude asks me to pigeon-hole Gay; she must talk to Mike. Gay resents being dragged from Michael's company.

Chapter Three
There's Hell to Pay

I WAS floundering badly and Gay's voice was somewhere along the coast of Labrador when to my infinite relief the Skipper suddenly came out of the library.

"What, no billiards?" said the Skipper.

Gay stood up. "No," she said without deigning me another look. "I have a snoring headache and I think I'll run up to bed if you don't mind."

"There's some aspirin in the drawer of the bedstead," offered the Skipper. "Probably this damned wind."

And there it was. I must have looked about as I felt, and that was no good. She was a nice kid, Gay. Confound Jude anyway! The Skipper was chuckling.

"Jim, don't tell me Mike has fallen at last!"

Gay marched up those stairs, her back like a ramrod. I nodded gloomily. "He's fallen about two thousand feet in the last two minutes," I said, "and he doesn't know it yet."

"Humm." She went up one step and turned. "Jimmie, do me a favor?"

All things considered, I should have been cured, but I wasn't. "Sure."

"Don't let Mike drag any fool doctors around here, and for the love of Pete keep him away from Jude Blinshop!"

"Skipper!" I said. "Listen! What?"

"Please, Jim." She reached down, and gave me a whack on the shoulder. "I count on you," she said and mounted the stairs.

A Chimney Crashes

Eventually I closed my mouth. In the course of a mere five minutes I had succeeded in precipitating a promising row between Michael and Gay and in checkmating my only reason for being at the Bluff at all - to get the Skipper to see a doctor. Concluding that there were no limits to my possibilities, I looked at my watch. It was 9:30 exactly.

No sound from the game-room. The Skipper and Gay were definitely out of the picture. That left myself and M. Farrington. With some idea of doing penance for my sins by spending an hour with that worthy, I opened the library door. But the library was empty.

That left myself. Well, I picked up a book and tried to relax, but the wind wasn't conducive to relaxation. I sat down at the desk and tried to worry a plot that had been more or less on my mind for the past month. Again the wind had other notions. And the couple

New London Band Rates Straight A's at Tourney

Orchestra and Chorus Also Receive Favorable Comment

New London—The New London High school band and orchestra rated straight A's in all of the 36 points or more on which the groups were judged at the district concert festival at West DeFere last Saturday, according to judges reports received at the high school yesterday. The band received a first rating in Class B playing from the Class A music lists and the orchestra rated first in Class D in its first competition.

The fine appearance of the band uniforms and excellent discipline were commended. Judges expressed pleasure at the marked ease and youthful spirit with which the students played at the meet. Director M. S. Zahrt also was complimented for his work with the group. Fourteen members of the band are graduating this spring but it is expected a fine organization will exist next year.

The development of the orchestra to its present status in so short time was lauded by judges in personal notes with the reports. There were several minor criticisms in the music but the group was given an A on all points. The chorus suffered some criticism but promised a successful future.

The band and orchestra will enter the state concert festival at Madison on Saturday, June 5.

Play Director Calls Meeting

Asks Boys and Girls Interested in Summer Sports to Meet

New London—All boys and girls from the ages of 7 to 17 who are interested in joining teams in softball, volleyball or basketball in the city recreational playground leagues will meet at Washington High school Saturday morning. It was announced this week by R. M. Shortell, city recreation director. The leagues and teams will organize in preparation for the opening of the city playground program on June 7.

An attractive summer program is planned this year and arrangements are being made to award ribbons and trophy cups at the end of the playground season on August 15.

Boys will meet at Room 113 at the high school at 9:30 Saturday morning and the girls will meet at 10:30. Each group will be divided into two age sections, one from 7 to 13 years and the other from 13 to 17 years.

Circulars have been prepared for distribution with report cards at all public and parochial schools this week urging parents to encourage their children to participate in the recreation program. Supervised play will be provided at the three public school grounds and for youths and adults will be given play opportunities in the evenings.

Attendees will care for little children on the Lincoln and McKinley school playgrounds at scheduled hours each day. The Washington High school grounds will be reserved for the older children from 7 to 17 years of age.

1,310 Pupils Register For High School Work

A total of 1,310 students have completed registration for attending Appleton High school next year, according to school officials. It is an increase of 55 over last year's registration but does not include the new rural and out-of-town students and the Appleton pupils who were absent during the registration period.

The advanced registration in 1934 was 1,109 persons with 1,181 in 1935 and 1,255 in 1936. Because of the anticipated enrollment school officials now are assigning more teachers and students to noon-day classes between 12 o'clock and 1:10 in the afternoon. It is expected that one-third of the students and teachers will have noon classes next year.

Stacy Taking 7 To Track Meet

Compete at Madison Saturday

New London—Seven high school track men will go to Madison with Coach D. N. Stacy Saturday to compete in the state field and track meet there.

Heading the list is Phil Clark, consistent winner in three events including the pole vault, 440-yard dash and low hurdles. At the Green Bay district meet he tied for first in the pole vault and won second place in the other two events. Francis Meinhardt will also run in the 440-yard event at Madison. He placed third in the district meet.

Robert Yost, holder of last year's high jump record with 5 foot, 8 inches, will be allowed to enter competition at Madison Saturday, according to Coach Stacy. Official approval from W. T. A. A. authorities was received last evening. Yost was ill at the time of the district meet and for that reason could not qualify. Douglas Hoier, a sophomore, tied for first at Green Bay in the high jump and also will represent New London in that event.

Bernard Brault will compete in the broad jump and Don Stern will back up Clark in the low hurdles. Bernard Stern will work in the pole vault and Melvin Glick will take the discus. Bob Schmidt was second in the high hurdles at the district meet but will not take part in state competition. The squad will travel to Madison in private autos. Coach Stacy has announced a junior track meet at the Washington High school grounds Friday afternoon for all seventh and eighth grade boys of public and parochial schools. Competition will be in all field and track events except the mile run. The program will get under way about 4 o'clock.

Students Get 'Rass' In Final Issue of High School Paper

New London—Memento notes of every student at Washington High school, ranging from compliments, through humorous quips down to plain "dirty digs" constituted the entire make-up of the final issue of "School Daze" the bi-weekly mimeographed school publication which appeared yesterday under the sardonic title, "School Daze," in keeping with its contents. The paper was increased from six to eight pages for the special occasion.

Different colored sheets were used to carry the memo-history of each class. Responsible for the "bright sayings" was the entire school staff headed by Richard Thorn, junior, editor-in-chief, and assistant editors Helen Davy and Anita Brault. Department editors and circulation staff members include George Demming, Ruth Hanon, Jean Ullrich, Leonard Green, Elaine Retz, Marjorie Kramer, Mary Dawson, Audrey Dean, Patricia Chewin, Elizabeth Zernicke, June Queeman, William Fox, Bernadine Southard and Elaine Donner.

Put Education to Work, New London Seniors are Told

Judge Graess, Green Bay, Speaker on Commencement Program

New London—With the auditorium jammed to capacity with parents and friends, Judge Henry Graess of Green Bay last night sought to inspire 100 graduates to the higher accomplishments in life in a commencement address at Washington High school.

Put your education to work, do something and accomplish something in life, take charge of your destiny and make something of it, you can't just slide through the world and collect the wages of success; it takes hard work — these were just a few of the points which the judge wished to impress on his youthful listeners.

Tells of Famous People He dwelt at length on the accomplishments of great and famous people of the world and of our own country in comparatively recent times. He sketched short biographies of many to illustrate the struggle they made and the heights they reached, evident in the service to mankind, not in world wealth.

He considered it a blessing to graduate in a depression period and pointed out the merits of working without hire to increase the knowledge of oneself or of the world. Hire may be slack but the world is always full of work, he admonished. He enumerated at length the many and varied opportunities in the sciences and crafts today and advised against the already overcrowded professions.

Present Awards Gold "N's" were awarded and Roland Rosenberger and Betty Jean Dean were cited for four years' perfect attendance at high school. Honor students commended are Beverly Eggers, Anita Roloff, Oral Ladwig, Rudd Meiklejohn, Marshall Otis, Cornelius VanLaarhoven, Lois Bleck, Eunice Konrad, Janette Warnecke.

Seven students who received diplomas will complete the sound study course by correspondence or will return to the school next September in order to earn full credit. They are Simon Barlow, Robert Farrell, Fred Gens, Clinton Platte, Loretta Platte, Melvin Roloff, and Ethelyn Schimke. Several students were unable to be present to receive their diplomas but not their diplomas.

Awarding of letters, the school honor cup and the school class spirit cup will take place at a special assembly of high school students at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon. Report cards also will be distributed at that time. Rental books were checked out by students Wednesday and Thursday.

Committee Will Open Bids on Two Bridges

Bids on construction of two country and bridges on town roads in the town of Oneida will be opened by the county highway committee at the courthouse Monday, according to F. R. Appleton, county highway commissioner. The structures will be known as the Vandemung and Vliestenz bridges.

The committee also will open bids on an automobile for use by the county patrol superintendent.

MURDER ON THE BLUFF

In the game-room showed no signs of coming to the rescue. At precisely 10 o'clock I gave it up and went to bed.

Even there my woes did not subside immediately. The roar of the wind was terrific, and curiosity—not to mention a touch of jealousy—kept me busy speculating about the interview in progress downstairs. I had done considerable thrashing by the time everything merged into a senseless hodge-podge in which I stood on the Farrington landing and watched Gay's furious face without any body glide slowly up ahead of me, while the voices of Judge, Michael, the Skipper, and Mr. Farrington hissed from below. "Do me a favor! Do me a favor!" Finally I roused enough to convince myself that the wind and not the household was doing the hissing, and then at last I slept.

I woke to a bright light in my eyes and someone shaking my shoulder. A loud siren seemed to be sounding in the room. There was a sudden thundering crash that shook the house. In one jump I landed out of that bed and smack into Michael, standing there fully dressed and dripping wet.

"The north chimney!" he shouted above the racket. It sounded more like the whole house. "For God's sake get into your clothes, Jim!" He was white as chalk and his hands were shaking. "There's hell to pay around here. Judge and the Skipper are missing!"

"Missing!" I echoed. "Where—" "God knows. They're not in their rooms and they're not in the house. And the bridge is down."

I regarded him stupidly. "Dammit all!" roared Michael. "Will you get dressed?" Obediently I reached for my pants.

Screams In The Dining Room It didn't take me long to get into them. As I dashed into the hall after Michael, the entire house was a blaze of light. All up and down the hall doors open, but no voices were audible above the wailing of the storm.

They were all in the dining room; there, I suppose, because the din was slightly muffled. Mr. Farrington in curlers and a hideous lavender robe. Gay, in fuzzy pajamas, looking like a sleepy, startled Kewpie Higgins in a genuine nightshirt topped by a tail coat and finished off with red slippers. Behind Higgins Cook in braids and an overcoat was trying to pacify the chambermaid, who looked hysterical and obviously desired to be administered to by William, the chauffeur. It was a perfect scene, and it reached a climax as I entered.

Annie screamed. "I can't stand it any more," she wailed. "I'm going to faint!" Her second scream was a prize winner. But Cook had methods of her own. She landed a neat haymaker on Annie's chin before Michael could intervene.

"Shut up, both of you," he ordered and there was comparative silence. "Now look," he continued, "there have been storms like this out here before. There's nothing to worry about. Miss Barbara and Miss Blinshop must have gone out for a walk and been caught in it. We'll have to find them, Higgins, you stay here and see to things. William, you can come with Mr. Wells and me. Better get a coat. Have you a flashlight?" William had. As he vanished to get it, Mr. Farrington warmed into action.

"Why," she demanded, voicing the thought in all our minds, "would Barbara and Judith go out for a walk on a night like this—and at this hour? They must be in the house, Michael. Possibly—"

"They aren't," said Michael shortly.

Gay's voice, cool and crisp, joined the party. "I suppose you have reason to know?"

Michael turned to her. "I have. I was sitting here wondering about the storm and I suddenly got the idea that if the west chimney went, Jude and the Skipper wouldn't be any too safe. When I went up to suggest that they move down the hall, they weren't there. I thought the Skipper might be in with Aunt Martha, so I woke Aunt Martha up. And then I called Higgins and we looked all over. Then I went after Jim, and while he was getting his clothes on, the chimney went and you came rushing down." He paused.

Judge Hughes Is Delegate to U. S. Social Work Meet

Appointment Is Seen as Recognition of His Work in Juvenile Court

(Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau) Oshkosh—Recognition of outstanding work being done in Oshkosh and Winnebago county on juvenile court cases and social work was seen in the appointment of Judge Henry P. Hughes as a delegate to represent Wisconsin at the National Conference of Social Work in session this week at Indianapolis, Ind.

Judge Hughes will leave Oshkosh, Wednesday, May 26 to spend three days at the convention.

One of the youngest judges on a municipal bench in Wisconsin, Judge Hughes also serves as judge of the juvenile court, and nearly every day is called upon to preside in cases involving boys and girls who have run afoul of the law. In this court he cooperates with the probation department and the special agencies.

Judge Hughes was appointed to the bench in 1934 by former Governor A. J. Schmedemann. He was elected in the spring of 1935 to fill the unexpired term of former Judge Silas Spengler. This spring, he was re-elected by a large majority to a 6-year term, beginning in 1938 and extending to 1944.

One of the reasons why the general public knows so little about the operations of the juvenile court is that no publicity is given juvenile cases. Judge Hughes recently stated that newspaper accounts of disposal of cases in this court tend to hamper the rehabilitation of the youthful offenders.

It was generally understood here, however, that Gov. Phil F. LaFollette had taken into account the pioneer work being done by Judge Hughes in juvenile court work, in appointing him to represent Wisconsin at the conference.

While the Edgewater are picked to down the Mill Supply, a tough battle is expected with Neubauer and Toddy forming the battery for the underdogs. A divorce action brought May 22, 1936, by Luedtke, on grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment was refused at that time by Judge McDonald.

The court ordered Luedtke to pay his former wife $15 per month for a period of three years in lieu of property settlement.

BICYCLE RACKS FILLED AT NEENAH SCHOOLS

It is estimated that there is one bicycle for every 11 persons in Neenah and a row of about 100 of them are shown parked in racks at the Neenah High school. Bicycles and bicycle riding in Neenah for business and pleasure has been a chief topic of conversation in many circles and is considered a problem of no small proportions. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Bicycles in Neenah are Big Problem; Licensing All Vehicles Is Suggested

Neenah—Bicycles and bicycle riding in Neenah for business and pleasure present a problem which has been discussed at length during common council meetings, parent-teacher association gatherings and street corner conferences.

Conservative estimates place the number of bicycles in Neenah at 900. A survey taken one afternoon revealed about 400 bicycles parked at the various schools, 200 at industrial establishments and 50 in yards and on the streets.

The total represents one vehicle for every 11 persons in Neenah and if placed end-to-end the string of bicycles would extend from Nicolet boulevard to the south city limits on Commercial street.

Broken Bones

Two children suffered broken bones as the result of recent accidents in Neenah and a youth was seriously injured at Menasha this week. Motorists complain incessantly of the "wobblers" bicycles in their paths while cyclists counter with the fact that they are not permitted to ride on sidewalks.

"Something must be done and done soon if we are to safeguard the lives of our children and relieve motorists of an admitted strain," Gaylord C. Loehning, justice of the peace, said. "Bicycles are a necessary evil and some means of regulating them must be provided. It is difficult for a small police force to arrest cyclists for traffic violations and it is unfair to parents to require payment of fines for the misdeeds of their children," he said.

License all Bicycles

The possibility of licensing all bicycles and riders has been suggested frequently as a practical means of controlling the situation. Favorable reports on the method have been received from other cities and local persons could "see no harm in it."

It is planned to create a complaint board composed of three persons, a justice of the peace, a layman and a capable high school student, which would meet regularly to hear charges and exercise power vested in it to penalize offenders. A guilty verdict would result in revocation of the license for a specified length of time or confiscation of the bicycle for a period.

Source of Revenue

As a source of revenue the proposal is not to be overlooked for 900 bicycles at an arbitrary fee of 25 cents each and 1,000 riders at 10 cents a head would amount to $225 annual income. Persons interviewed declared the cyclists would not begrudge the payment of a small fee for use of the streets and maintenance of traffic signals.

Special emphasis has been placed upon youths because national figures for 1936 show that of the 770 deaths resulting from accidents involving bicycles, 390 persons killed were between the ages of 5 and 14 and 330 were between 15 and 64.

In the age groups 5 to 14, both deaths and injuries in bicycle-automobile collisions rose alarmingly last year and fatalities were very nearly doubled, according to figures compiled by the Travelers Insurance company, Hartford. There were 25,000 accidents involving bicycles, or 2.9 per cent of all traffic accidents resulting in deaths and injuries, with a toll of 770 lives and 24,200 persons seriously injured.

Extreme Caution

State safety department records reveal that there were more bicycle and car accidents than there were train and auto wrecks. Chief of Police C. H. Watts has repeatedly urged all cyclists to use extreme caution to avoid accident.

Harvey L. Evans, civics instructor at Neenah High school, prepared the following set of safety rules for the Winnebago County Traffic Safety council after making a survey of ordinances and traffic codes in nearby cities:

1. Keep to the right and close to the curb at all times.

2. See that your steering mechanism and brakes are in good working order at all times.

3. Your bicycle must be equipped with a small bell or horn and must carry a light in front and a reflector or red light in rear when riding at night.

4. Don't do any trick riding. Keep both hands on the handle bars.

5. Don't try to turn when it interferes with traffic.

6. Don't turn to the right, left or stop without first giving timely warning by hand.

7. Do not ride with any one on bicycle at any time.

8. When possible avoid the busy streets.

9. Stop at all stop signs.

Neenah Merchants to Meet Appleton Sunday

Neenah—The Neenah Merchants hardball squad will journey to Appleton Sunday afternoon for a Northern Valley league contest against the Green Tavern.

The Appleton aggregation is perched in second while the Neenah squad is hovering near the cellar with one win and two losses.

Obey stop-and-go signals.

11. When in groups ride single file.

12. Be alert and cautious at all times.

Course in Schools

A supplementary course on bicycle riding to be conducted in the grade schools has been considered but no standard method has been adopted. Teaching the rules of the road would be invaluable and is entirely applicable in Neenah, one educator said.

Construction of the high school on the south side of the city resulted in a large number of students, acquiring bicycles and daily travel across the N. Commercial street bridge to and from the island. Erection of a second bridge across the Fox river as a safety measure to divert most of the bicycle traffic from the main thoroughfare has been cited at recent meetings.

"Many people want to wait until neighboring cities attack the problem and profit by their experience. Any step taken would not be backward and I would endorse any concerted movement in Neenah toward the ultimate goal of creating safe conditions for the bicycle rider and the motorist," William S. Campbell, former mayor of Neenah, declared.

Menasha—Menasha's Gold Label softball team will journey to Two Rivers Sunday to cross bats with the strong Two Rivers city team at Two Rivers.

Pawlowski will start on the mound for the local team with Smokey Knoll in waiting. Kraus or Smarzynski will be behind the log. Other members of the team are Brown, Stepanski, Beach, Hoks, West, Stutz and Pawlowski.

Boy Scout Troop to Unpack 2 New Tents

Menasha—Two large tents, recently purchased, will be unpacked by members of Congregational troop No. 9, Boy Scouts of America, at a meeting tonight at the Congregational church.

Scouts will also develop a program for the Camporee to be held at New London June 11, 12 and 13. All troops of the valley council will take part in the program.

Develop Interest In People, Goal, Girls are Told

Twin Cities Girl Reserves Hear Pastor at Annual Banquet

Neenah—Challenging the 100 Neenah and Menasha Girl Reserves assembled at the annual Girl Reserve banquet in the Twin City, Y. W. C. A. Wednesday evening to develop imagination, patience and appreciation, interest in people and goal, the Rev. William A. Jacobs, pastor, First Congregational church, Menasha, declared that with such development will come the ability to live with other people and with one's self.

Confiding that what the world holds for youth depends upon youth itself, the Rev. Mr. Jacobs told his audience a well-rounded imagination leads people out of themselves and gives them ability to see the world, that interest in other people teaches how to live with people and enriches personality.

"Don't select a goal or an objective that you want to attain tomorrow," cautioned the speaker, "but select a goal that grows as you grow, something for which you can strive all the days of your life."

Joan Graef, toastmistress, opened the program by introducing Mrs. Joseph Post, chairman of the Girl's Work committee at the Y. W. C. A. After her brief informal message, Mrs. John Holzman, president of the association, spoke. Miss Juliette Peterson read the poem, "An If For Girls" after which Marian Hardt sang "Thank God For All."

She was accompanied at the piano by Dorothy B. Hagg.

Frances Webb took the girls on a "memory cruise" and stated that aside from the fun that had been known by the girls, the most lasting memories were those of comradeship and inspiration and the symbol of the Y itself.

Miss Lorraine Abenschen awarded the prizes to Mrs. Harry Gates of the Girl Reserve group for securing the most orders in the recently conducted doughnut sale. The play, "Not Quite Such a Goose" whose cast included Jane Finch, Joyce Drephal, Marjorie Anklam, Betty Barwick and Marion Booth, was presented.

Oshkosh Sewage System to Cost Over $1,000,000

Original Estimate Was $800,000; City Seeking Funds

Oshkosh—That Oshkosh's nearly completed sewage system will cost many more thousands of dollars than originally planned, and that the William Cramer & Sons, engineers for the project, will collect much more than originally stated was ruefully admitted by city officials here today.

The original estimate of the complete system given the council in 1933 was $880,000. This was later revised to $914,545; then to $980,000; and now after the city has added $100,000 from its coffers, as well as $11,000 from the Emergency fund, the total today is $1,011,000.

Now city officials and aldermen are trying to "shuffle about" the original figures to meet with PWA approval, and to date no provision has been made for operating cost.

The plan, it was stated at the city hall, was to have the city pay 55 per cent by floating bonds, and receive a 45 per cent PWA grant. This did not include the $100,000 raised later by a bond sale, nor the $11,000 wrung from the Emergency fund.

What some city officials, as well as most of the tax-payers are complaining about is the mounting cost of the engineering, and the amount being paid the William Cramer & Sons Co.

To date the city has been paid $60,220.45. Aldermen have pointed out that when they first presented the plan to the council they estimated the engineering cost at between $35,000 and $50,000, with an assurance it would be nearer the $35,000 mark.

Oshkosh officials have been assured by the Cramer Co. that the plant, including the sewer system, will be in full operation not later than July 1.

A board of Sewerage Commissioners has been appointed with R. C. Dempsey as chairman, which is now trying to formulate a plan so that rates for sewer services can be set. Other members are: Frank J. Sullivan, E. G. Boardman, William F. Ladwig, and N. N. Schomisch.

SIGNS TOO HIGH IN ERIE

Erie, Pa.—A Warren, Pa. man sent this letter to the Erie chief of police:

"Mr. Chief, Your Honor. One of your diligent sleuths told me it would be O. K. to mail this fine to you. Why don't you lower your 'NO parking' signs? A stranger doesn't see them unless he comes by plane."

'Death Ray' Is Photographed by Scientists in Lab

But They are Far Behind Fiction Writers of Today

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE

New York—The "biz rays" of science, basis for fiction's "death" and gravitation-defying rays, are beginning to become visible for the first time in photography.

Fiction is far ahead of fact. The loneliest visible ray of science is 25 centimeters, just under one foot. It is also the newest.

This ray was photographed at the radiation laboratory of the University of California, directed by Dr. Ernest O. Lawrence. It is a brilliant lavender beam. Its shape, in the air, is almost a perfect baseball bat.

Comes Out of Box

It is made of deuterons. These are particles whose existence was unknown until four years ago. They are the secret of heavy water. They are the kernels or nuclei of heavy hydrogen, the hydrogen of double normal weight, which when combined with oxygen makes heavy water.

This lavender ray emerges from a platinum window, in a metal box, lying between the poles of an 80-ton magnet. The ray is driven out of the window by energy equal to five and a half million volts of electricity. The great magnet and box are a "cyclotron," where the particles are whirled around until they emerge as a visible ray.

Not Instantly Fatal

This ray will disintegrate atoms. But it will not disintegrate with any visible speed a particle of matter big enough to see. It is dangerous to man, could even cause death, but not at a touch. Its effects would appear like a burn.

Rays with far greater energy have been photographed lately at the California Institute of Technology. But they are atomic in size. They cannot yet even be seen in the air, although they exist there.

These rays are single tracks, in a cloud chamber, cosmic ray meter, developed under direction of Dr. Robert A. Millikan. The tracks are atomic particles. Cosmic rays set them off by hitting, and exploding single atoms.

Like Fireworks

In these still atomic-size rays lie the huge energies denied by fiction. There are no fireworks, no explosion, no reservoir for such rays. The part of the atom from which the particles come is held together by a force about one million times as strong as gravitation. The force has been measured, but its nature is a mystery, except that it seems to be electrical.

The rays in Dr. Millikan's metal boxes bounce and swirl like July Fourth massed fireworks. They are like baseballs bounced off invisible barns. By studying the tracks of millions of baseballs, anyone would form some idea of the size, shape and structural material of the barn. Instead of baseballs to study, Dr. Millikan's staff sees the bouncing of several different kind of particles off or out of the invisible "barn" nucleus of an atom.

'ANEMIC' COFS

Evanston, Ill.—When the Evanston hospital asked Police Chief Freeman for volunteers to give blood to a patient, he refused and referred the hospital to Fire Chief Hofstetter.

Freeman explained that during the last month 15 policemen have donated blood. "Fire Chief Hofstetter has a lot of red-blooded men," said Freeman. "Our policemen are beginning to look anemic."

Shedding cherry rays, brightening every corner, lighting gloomy ways. But it shines no brighter than a sunny smile. So I'll wear one always.

I'm a candle child. Close-to-home subjects are part of Garbett's system. His idea originated, in fact, when he heard a class of American school children singing "Bluebells of Scotland."

His pupils use the pentatonic or five-note scale, which eliminates the troublesome Fa and Ti. "Natural" musicians—the Celts, the Negroes, the Chinese—use this scale and it has given us some of the loveliest and most spontaneous folk-tunes that we have," he explains. "It is the same series of tones we get by playing the black keys of the piano and anybody can make tunes with it."

Instead of setting dry instruction about clef-signs, notes, rests and so forth, the pupil learns about them when he meets them in his own developing composition.

New York—The stock market crept irregularly forward fractions to a point or so today but selling in the final hour took the edge off improvement in some sectors.

From the start, when slight losses ruled, trading was timid. As the session progressed buyers nibbled at scattered specialties, steel, motors and coppers but Wall Street's appetite was neither robust nor uniform.

Buying power in the morning and most of the afternoon was attributed by analysts to encouragement at the market's recent steady performance in the face of strike news among independent steel companies.

Transactions totaled about 600,000 shares.

In demand most of the day were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, Goodrich, U. S. Rubber, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, International Harvester, Boeing, Douglas Aircraft, United Aircraft, Western Union, North American, Electric Power and Light, Kennecott, American Smelting, Standard Oil of New Jersey, American Can, General Electric, Allied Chemical, Santa Fe, Anaconda, Loew's, Johns-Manville, Borg-Warner and American Bank-note.

Oliver Farm Equipment gained briskly on report of good earnings in the first four months.

Slow Dealings On Hog Market

Session Opens With Steady Tone But Weakness Appears

Chicago—The hog market today was very slow. The opening was steady with Wednesday's average, but later prices were fully 10 cents lower.

Cattle trade also was slow. There was no reliable outlet for strictly good and choice medium weight and heavy steers and in these classes sold fully 25 cents, and in spots more, lower than the week's highest levels.

Sheep were also slow and lower in price, values off 25 to 50 cents on fat lambs which were very scarce.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK

Chicago—(U.S.D.A.)—Hogs 11,000, including 4,500 direct; opened steady with Wednesday's average; very slow, bidding fully 10 cents lower. Good and choice 200-300 lbs. 11.40-12.00; 11.80; comparable 150-190 lbs. 10.50-11.50; bulk good packing sows 10.00-10.50; few light weights 10.00-and-better.

Cattle, 5,000; calves, 1,500; no reliable outlet for strictly good and choice medium weight and heavy steers; these fully 25 cents under the week's high time; instances of more common and medium grades and all grades yearlings steady; fed heifers scarce and steady; fairly active at the week's advance; cows slow, weak; bulls weak; weighty sausage offerings 6.75 down; general loads here promise to sell at 6.00 down; vealers 50 lower at 10.00 down to 8.50; more active trade this week on stocker and feeder cattle with natives at 7.00-8.25 and well bred southern calves and light yearlings at 8.00-9.00; handpicked offerings bringing 25-50.

Sheep 10,000; including 6,000 direct; fat lambs very scarce; early sales and bids 25-50 lower; two doubles holdover woolled lambs of medium grade 10.75; nothing done on clipped offerings; best held above 9.50; spring lambs as yet unsold; few sheep about in line with late Wednesday; 25-50 under early sales; scattered short ewes 8.00-8.75; bulk 4.50 down.

Corn Quotations Again are Sharply Higher in Chicago

Urgent Demand Causes
Prices to Skyrocket
For All Contracts

Chicago—(U.S.D.A.)—Stimulated by extreme scarcity of corn available to be delivered under board of trade rules, the corn market today rose abruptly 4 cents for contracts as far distant as September.

With demand urgent to an extent rarely equaled, contract grades of corn ready to be used at once commanded 13 to 14 cents a bushel over prices for July delivery. This was for ordinary commercial grade, No. 2 yellow.

At the close, corn was 24-25 cents above yesterday's finish, July 1.23, Sept. 1.14, Dec. 83-1, wheat unchanged to 1 higher, July 1.18-1, Sept. 1.16-1.17, and oats 14-14 1/2 up.
